PREFACE.

The Missouri Manual is published by authority of the Legislature, and the contents are without political bias. Several valuable historical tabulations, such as the list of former Governors, Secretaries of State, members of the Senate and House and of the National Congress, have been omitted from this volume. They have been carried from year to year in former issues of the Manual, and, to complete a Missouri political history, should be preserved and properly corrected with pen and ink, bringing them up to date.

Some months are occupied in printing a volume so bulky as the Manual, and it is put to press in parts or "forms." Changes are constantly occurring in political life, and many have occurred since the "copy" for the Manual was given to the printer. Newspapers have changed ownership, or ceased to exist; county officers have resigned or gone away to war—deaths have occurred. Where such changes have come to the attention of this department, they have been noted, but it can only be said that the data is correct as of August 9, 1917, when the final revision of "copy" was made.

THE PRESIDENT'S WAR MESSAGES.

ADDRESS OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES, DELIVERED AT A JOINT SESSION OF THE TWO HOUSES OF CONGRESS, APRIL 2, 1917.

Gentlemen of the Congress:

I have called the Congress into extraordinary session because there are serious, very serious, choices of policy to be made, and made immediately, which it was neither right nor constitutionally permissible that I should assume the responsibility of making.

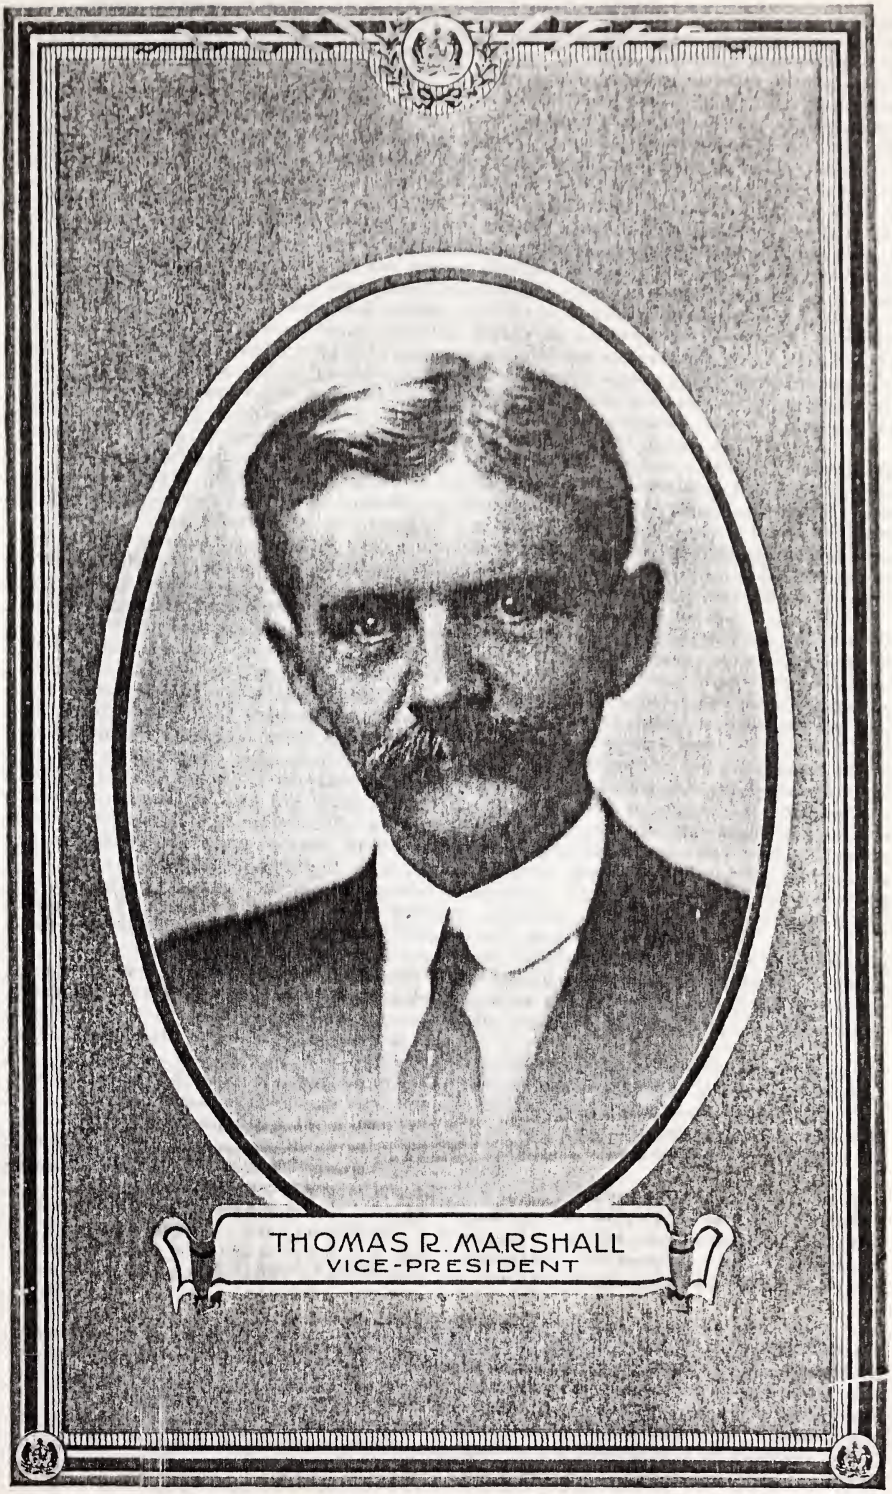

On the third of February last I officially laid before you the extraordinary announcement of the Imperial German Government that on and after the first day of February it was its purpose to put aside all restraints of law or of humanity and use its submarines to sink every vessel that sought to approach either the ports of Great Britain and Ireland on the western coasts of Europe or any of the ports controlled by the enemies of Germany within the Mediterranean. That had seemed to be the object of the German submarine warfare earlier in the war, but since April of last year the Imperial Government had somewhat restrained the commanders of its undersea craft in conformity with its promise then given to us that passenger boats should not be sunk and that due warning would be given to all other vessels which its submarines might seek to destroy, when no resistance was offered or escape attempted, and care taken that their crews were given at least a fair chance to save their lives in their open boats. The precautions taken were meagre and haphazard enough, as was proved in distressing instance after instance in the progress of the cruel and unmanly business, but a certain degree of restraint was observed. The new policy has swept every restriction aside. Vessels of every kind, whatever their flag, their character, their cargo, their destination, their errand, have been ruthlessly sent to the bottom without warning and without thought of help or mercy for those on board, the vessels of friendly neutrals along with those of belligerents. Even hospital ships and ships carrying relief to the sorely bereaved and stricken people of Belgium, though the latter were provided with safe conduct through the prescribed areas by the German Government itself and were distinguished by unmistakable marks of identity, have been sunk with the same reckless lack of compassion or of principle.

I was for a little while unable to believe that such things would in fact be done by any government that had hitherto subscribed to the humane practices of civilized nations. International law had its origin in the attempt to set up some law which would be respected and observed upon the seas, where no nation had right of dominion and where lay the free highways of the world. By painful stage after stage has that law been built up, with meager enough results, indeed, after all was accomplished that could be accomplished, but always with a clear view, at least, of what the heart and conscience of mankind demanded. This minimum of right the German Government has swept aside under the plea of retaliation and necessity and because it had no weapons which it could use at sea except these which it is impossible to employ as it is employing them without throwing to the winds all scruples of humanity or of respect for the understandings that were supposed to underlie the intercourse of the world. I am not now thinking of the loss of property involved, immense and serious as that is, but only of the wanton and wholesale destruction of the lives of noncombatants, men, women, and children, engaged in pursuits which have always, even in the darkest periods of modern history, been deemed innocent and legitimate. Property can be paid for; the lives of peaceful and innocent people cannot be. The present German submarine warfare against commerce is a warfare against mankind.

It is a war against all nations. American ships have been sunk, American lives taken, in ways which it has stirred us very deeply to learn of, but the ships and people of other neutral and friendly nations have been sunk and overwhelmed in the waters in the same way. There has been no discrimination. The challenge is to all mankind. Each nation must decide for itself how it will meet it. The choice we make for ourselves must be made with a moderation of counsel and a temperateness of judgment befitting our character and our motives as a nation. We must put excited feeling away. Our motive will not be revenge or the victorious assertion of the physical might of the nation, but only the vindication of right, of human right, of which we are only a single champion.

WOODROW WILSON
PRESIDENT

THOMAS R. MARSHALL
VICE-PRESIDENT

When I addressed the Congress on the twenty sixth of February last I thought it would suffice to assert our neutral rights with arms, our right to use the seas against unlawful interference, our right to keep our people safe against unlawful violence. But armed neutrality, it now appears, is impracticable. Because submarines are in effect outlaws when used as the German submarines have been used against merchant shipping, it is impossible to defend ships against their attacks as the law of nations has assumed that merchantmen would defend themselves against privateers or cruisers, visible craft giving chase upon the open sea. It is common prudence in such circumstances, grim necessity, indeed, to endeavor to destroy them before they have shown their own intention. They must be dealt with upon sight, if dealt with at all. The German Government denies the right of neutrals to use arms at all within the areas of the sea which it has proscribed, even in the defense of rights which no modern publicist has ever before questioned their right to defend. The intimation is conveyed that the armed guards which we placed on our merchant ships will be treated as beyond the pale of law and subject to be dealt with as pirates would be. Armed neutrality is ineffectual enough at best; in such circumstances and in the face of such pretensions it is worse than ineffectual; it is likely only to produce what it was meant to prevent; it is practically certain to draw us into the war without either the rights or the effectiveness of belligerents. There is one choice we cannot make, we are incapable of making: we will not choose the path of submission and suffer the most sacred rights of our nation and our people to be ignored or violated. The wrongs against which we now array ourselves are no common wrongs; they cut to the very roots of human life.

With a profound sense of the solemn and even tragical character of the step I am taking and of the grave responsibilities which it involves, but in unhesitating obedience to what I deem my constitutional duty, I advise that the Congress declare the recent course of the Imperial German Government to be in fact nothing less than war against the government and people of the United States; that it formally accept the status of belligerent which has thus been thrust upon it; and that it take immediate steps not only to put the country in a more thorough state of defense but also to exert all its power and employ all its resources to bring the Government of the German Empire to terms and end the war.

What this will involve is clear. It will involve the utmost practical co-operation in counsel and action with the governments now at war with Germany, and, as incident to that, the extension to those governments of the most liberal financial credits, in order that our resources may so far as possible be added to theirs. It will involve the organization and mobilization of all the material resources of the country to supply the materials of war and serve the incidental needs of the nation in the most abundant and yet the most economical and efficient way possible. It will involve the immediate full equipment of the navy in all respects but particularly in supplying it with the best means of dealing with the enemy's submarines. It will involve the immediate addition to the armed forces of the United States already provided for by law in case of war at least five hundred thousand men, who should, in my opinion, be chosen upon the principle of universal liability to service, and also the authorization of subsequent additional increments of equal force so soon as they may be needed and can be handled in training. It will involve also, of course, the granting of adequate credits to the Government, sustained, I hope, so far as they can equitably be sustained by the present generation, by well conceived taxation.

I say sustained so far as may be equitable by taxation because it seems to me that it would be most unwise to base the credits which will now be necessary entirely on money borrowed. It is our duty, I most respectfully urge, to protect our people so far as we may against the very serious hardships and evils which would be likely to rise out of the inflation which would be produced by vast loans.

In carrying out the measures by which these things are to be accomplished we should keep constantly in mind the wisdom of interfering as little as possible in our own preparation and in the equipment of our own military forces with the duty—for it will be a very practical duty—of supplying the nations already at war with Germany with the materials which they can obtain only from us or by our assistance. They are in the field and we should help them in every way to be effective there.

I shall take the liberty of suggesting, through the several executive departments of the Government, for the consideration of your committees, measures for the accomplishment of the several objects I have mentioned. I hope that it will be your pleasure to deal with them as having been framed after very careful thought by the branch of the Government upon which the responsibility of conducting the war and safeguarding the nation will most directly fall.

While we do these things, these deeply momentous things, let us be very clear, and make very clear to all the world what our motives and our objects are. My own thought has not been driven from its habitual and normal course by the unhappy events of the last two months, and I do not believe that the thought of the nation has been altered or clouded by them. I have exactly the same things in mind now that I had in mind when I addressed the Senate on the twenty-second of January last; the same that I had in mind when I addressed the Congress on the third of February and on the twenty-sixth of February. Our object now, as then, is to vindicate the principles of peace and justice in the life of the world as against selfish and autocratic power and set up amongst the really free and self-governed peoples of the world such a concert of purpose and of action as will henceforth ensure the observance of those principles. Neutrality is no longer feasible or desirable where the peace of the world is involved and the freedom of its peoples, and the menace to that peace and freedom lies in the existence of autocratic governments backed by organized force which is controlled wholly by their will, not by the will of their people. We have seen the last of neutrality in such circumstances. We are at the beginning of an age in which it will be insisted that the same standards of conduct and of responsibility for wrong done shall be observed among nations and their governments that are observed among the individual citizens of civilized states.

We have no quarrel with the German people. We have no feeling towards them but one of sympathy and friendship. It was not upon their impulse that their government acted in entering this war. It was not with their previous knowledge or approval. It was a war determined upon as wars used to be determined upon in the old, unhappy days when peoples were nowhere consulted by their rulers and wars were provoked and waged in the interest of dynasties or of little groups of ambitious men who were accustomed to use their fellow men as pawns and tools. Self-governed nations do not fill their neighbor states with spies or set the course of intrigue to bring about some critical posture of affairs which will give them an opportunity to strike and make conquest. Such designs can be successfully worked out only under cover and where no one has the right to ask questions. Cunningly contrived plans of deception or aggression, carried, it may be, from generation to generation, can be worked out and kept from the light only within the privacy of courts or behind the carefully guarded confidences of a narrow and privileged class. They are happily impossible where public opinion commands and insists upon full information concerning all the nation's affairs.

A steadfast concert for peace can never be maintained except by a partnership of democratic nations. No autocratic government could be trusted to keep faith within it or observe its covenants. It must be a league of honor, a partnership of opinion. Intrigue would eat its vitals away; the plottings of inner circles who could plan what they would and render account to no one would be a corruption seated at its very heart. Only free peoples can hold their purpose and their honor steady to a common end and prefer the interests of mankind to any narrow interest of their own.

Does not every American feel that assurance has been added to our hope for the future peace of the world by the wonderful and heartening things that have been happening within the last few weeks in Russia? Russia was known by those who knew it best to have been always in fact democratic at heart, in all the vital habits of her thoughts, in all the intimate relationships of her people that spoke their natural instinct, their habitual attitude towards life. The autocracy that crowned the summit of her political structure, long as it had stood and terrible as was the reality of its power, was not in fact Russian in origin, character, or purpose; and now it has been shaken off and the great, generous Russian people have been added in all their native majesty and might to the forces that are fighting for freedom in the world, for justice, and for peace. Here is a fit partner for a League of Honor.

One of the things that has served to convince us that the Prussian autocracy was not and could never be our friend is that from the very outset of the present war it has filled our unsuspecting communities and even our offices of government with spies and set criminal intrigues everywhere afoot against our national unity of counsel, our peace within and without, our industries and our commerce. Indeed it is now evident that its spies were here even before the war began; and it is unhappily not a matter of conjecture but a fact proved in our courts of justice that the intrigues which have more than once come perilously near to disturbing the peace and dislocating the industries of the country have been carried on at the instigation, with the support, and even under the personal direction of official agents of the Imperial Government accredited to the Government of the United States. Even in checking these things and trying to extirpate them we have sought to put the most generous interpretation possible upon them because we knew that their source lay, not in any hostile feeling or purpose of the German people towards us (who were, no doubt, as ignorant of them as we ourselves were), but only in the selfish designs of a government that did what it pleased and told its people nothing. But they have played their part in serving to convince us at last that the government entertains no real friendship for us and means to act against our peace and security at its convenience. That it means to stir up enemies against us at our very doors the intercepted note to the German Minister at Mexico City is eloquent evidence.

We are accepting this challenge of hostile purpose because we know that in such a government, following such methods, we can never have a friend; and that in the presence of its organized power, always lying in wait to accomplish we know not what purpose, there can be no assured security for the democratic governments of the world. We are now about to accept gauge of battle with this natural foe to liberty and shall, if necessary, spend the whole force of the nation to check and nullify its pretensions and its power. We are glad, now that we see the facts with no veil of false pretence about them, to fight thus for the ultimate peace of the world and for the liberation of its peoples, the German peoples included: for the rights of nations great and small and the privilege of men everywhere to choose their way of life and of obedience. The world must be made safe for democracy. Its peace must be planted upon the tested foundations of political liberty. We have no selfish ends to serve. We desire no conquest, no dominion. We seek no indemnities for ourselves, no material compensation for the sacrifices we shall freely make. We are but one of the champions of the rights of mankind. We shall be satisfied when those rights have been made as secure as the faith and the freedom of nations can make them.

Just because we fight without rancour and without selfish object, seeking nothing for ourselves but what we shall wish to share with all free peoples, we shall, I feel confident, conduct our operations as belligerents without passion, and ourselves observe with proud punctilio the principles of right and of fair play we profess to be fighting for.

I have said nothing of the governments allied with the Imperial Government of Germany because they have not made war upon us or challenged us to defend our right and our honor. The Austro-Hungarian Government has, indeed, avowed its unqualified endorsement and acceptance of the reckless and lawless submarine warfare adopted now without disguise by the Imperial German Government, and it has therefore not been possible for this Government to receive Count Tarnowski, the Ambassador recently accredited to this Government by the Imperial and Royal Government of Austria-Hungary; but that government has not actually engaged in warfare against citizens of the United States on the seas, and I take the liberty, for the present at least, of postponing a discussion of our relations with the authorities at Vienna. We enter this war only where we are clearly forced into it because there are no other means of defending our rights.

It will all be easier for us to conduct ourselves as belligerents in a high spirit of right and fairness because we act without animus, not in enmity towards a people or with the desire to bring any injury or disadvantage upon them, but only in armed opposition to an irresponsible government which has thrown aside all considerations of humanity and of right and is running amuck. We are, let me say again, the sincere friends of the German people, and shall desire nothing so much as the early re-establishment of intimate relations of mutual advantage between us—however hard it may be for them, for the time being, to believe that this is spoken from our hearts. We have borne with their present government through all these bitter months because of that friendship—exercising a patience and forbearance which would otherwise have been impossible. We shall, happily, still have an opportunity to prove that friendship in our daily attitude and actions towards the millions of men and women of German birth and native sympathy who live amongst us and share our life, and we shall be proud to prove it towards all who are in fact loyal to their neighbors and to the Government in the hour of test. They are, most of them, as true and loyal Americans as if they had never known any other fealty or allegiance. They will be prompt to stand with us in rebuking and restraining the few who may be of a different mind and purpose. If there should be disloyalty, it will be dealt with with a firm hand of stern repression; but, if it lifts its head at all, it will lift it only here and there and without countenance except from a lawless and malignant few.

It is a distressing and oppressive duty, gentlemen of the Congress, which I have performed in thus addressing you. There are, it may be, many months of fiery trial and sacrifice ahead of us. It is a fearful thing to lead this great peaceful people into war, into the most terrible and disastrous of all wars, civilization itself seeming to be in the balance. But the right is more precious than peace, and we shall fight for the things which we have always carried nearest our hearts—for democracy, for the right of those who submit to authority to have a voice in their own governments, for the rights and liberties of small nations, for a universal dominion of right by such a concert of free peoples as shall bring peace and safety to all nations and make the world itself at last free. To such a task we can dedicate our lives and our fortunes, everything that we are and everything that we have, with the pride of those who know that the day has come when America is privileged to spend her blood and her might for the principles that gave her birth and happiness and the peace which she has treasured. God helping her, she can do no other.

FROM THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS TO CONGRESS, DECEMBER 4, 1917.

"Let there be no misunderstanding. Our present and immediate task is to win the war and nothing shall turn us aside from it until it is accomplished. Every power and resource we possess, whether of men, of money, or of materials, is being devoted and will continue to be devoted to that purpose until it is achieved. Those who desire to bring peace about before that purpose is achieved, I counsel to carry their advice elsewhere. We will not entertain it. We shall regard the war as won only when the German people say to us, through properly accredited representatives, that they are ready to agree to a settlement based upon justice and the reparation of the wrongs their rulers have done. They have done a wrong to Belgium which must be repaired. They have established a power over other lands and peoples than their own, over the great empire of Austria-Hungary, over hitherto free Balkan states, over Turkey and within Asia, which must be relinquished.

"Germany's success by skill, by industry, by knowledge, by enterprise we did not grudge or oppose, but admired rather. She had built up for herself a real empire of trade and influence, secured by the peace of the world. We were content to abide the rivalries of manufacture, science and commerce that were involved for us in her success and stand or fall as we had or did not have the brains and the initiative to surpass her. But at the moment when she had conspicuously won her triumphs of peace she threw them away to establish in their stead what the world will no longer permit to be established, military and political domination by arms, by which to oust where she could not excel the rivals she most feared and hated.

"The peace we make must remedy that wrong. It must deliver the once fair lands and happy peoples of Belgium and Northern France from the Prussian conquest and the Prussian menace—but it must also deliver the peoples of Austria-Hungary, the peoples of the Balkans and the peoples of Turkey, alike in Europe and in Asia, from the imputent and alien domination of the Prussian military and commercial autocracy.

"We owe it, however, to ourselves to say that we do not wish in any way to impair or to rearrange the Austro-Hungarian Empire. It is no affair of ours what they do with their own life, either industrially or politically. We do not purpose or desire to dictate to them in any way. We only desire to see that their affairs are left in their own hands, in all matters, great or small. We shall hope to secure for the peoples of the Balkan Peninsula, for the people of the Turkish Empire the right and opportunity to make their own lives safe, their own fortunes secure against oppression or injustice and from the dictation of foreign courts or parties.

"And our attitude and purpose with regard to Germany herself are of a like kind. We intend no wrong against the German Empire, no interference with her internal affairs. We should deem either the one or the other absolutely unjustifiable, absolutely contrary to the principles we have professed to live by and to hold most sacred throughout our life as a nation.

"The people of Germany are being told by the men whom they now permit to deceive them and to act as their masters that they are fighting for the very life and existence of their empire, a war of desperate self-defense against deliberate aggression. Nothing could be more grossly or wantonly false, and we must seek by the utmost openness and candor as to our real aims to convince them of its falseness. We are, in fact, fighting for their emancipation from fear, along with our own, from fear as well as from the fact of unjust attack by neighbors or rivals or schemers after world empire. No one is threatening the existence or the independence or the peaceful enterprise of the German Empire.

"The worst that can happen to the detriment of the German people is this, that if they should still, after the war is over, continue to be obliged to live under ambitious and intriguing masters, intent to disturb the peace of the world, men or classes of men whom the other peoples of the world could not trust, it might be impossible to admit them to the partnership of nations which must henceforth guarantee the world's peace. That partnership must be a partnership of peoples, not a mere partnership of governments. It might be impossible, also, in such untoward circumstances, to admit Germany to the free economic intercourse which must inevitably spring out of the other partnerships of a real peace. But there would be no aggression in that; and such a situation, inevitable because of distrust, would, in the very nature of things, sooner or later cure itself by processes which would assuredly set in.

"The wrongs, the very deep wrongs, committed in this war will have to be righted. That, of course. But they cannot and must not be righted by the commission of similar wrongs against Germany and her allies. The world will not permit the commission of similar wrongs as a means of reparation and settlement. Statesmen must by this time have learned that the opinion of the world is everywhere wide-awake and fully comprehends the issues involved. No representative of any self-governed nation will dare disregard it by attempting any such covenants of selfishness and compromise as were entered into at the congress of Vienna. The thought of the plain people here and everywhere throughout the world, the people who enjoy no privilege and have very simple and unsophisticated standards of right and wrong, is the air all governments must henceforth breathe if they would live. It is in the full disclosing light of that thought that all policies must be conceived and executed in this midday hour of the world's life.

"German rulers have been able to upset the peace of the world only because the German people were not suffered under their tutelage to share the comradeship of the other peoples of the world either in thought or in purpose. They were allowed to have no opinion of their own which might be set up as a rule of conduct for those who exercised authority over them. But the congress that concludes this war will feel the full strength of the tides that run now in the hearts and consciences of free men everywhere. Its conclusions will run those tides.

"All these things have been true from the very beginning of this stupendous war; and I cannot help thinking that if they had been made plain at the very outset the sympathy and enthusiasm of the Russian people might have been once for all enlisted on the side of the allies, suspicion and distrust swept away and a real and lasting union of purpose effected. Had they believed these things at the very moment of their revolution and had they been confirmed in that belief since, the sad reverses which have recently marked the progress of their affairs towards an ordered and stable government of free men might have been avoided. The Russian people have been poisoned by the very same falsehoods that have kept the German people in the dark, and the poison has been administered by the very same hands. The only possible antidote is the truth. It cannot be uttered too plainly or too often.

"From every point of view, therefore, it has seemed to be my duty to speak these declarations of purpose, to add these specific interpretations to what I took the liberty of saying to the Senate in January. Our entrance into the war has not altered our attitude towards the settlement that must come when it is over. When I said in January that the nations of the world were entitled not only to free pathways upon the sea, but also to assured and undisputed access to those pathways, I was thinking, and I am thinking now, not of the smaller and weaker nations alone, which need our countenance and support, but also of the great and powerful nations, and of our present enemies as well as our present associates in the war. I was thinking, and am thinking now, of Austria herself, among the rest, as well as of Serbia and of Poland. Justice and equality of rights can be had only at a great price. We are seeking permanent, not temporary, foundations for the peace of the world, and must seek them candidly and fearlessly. Austria-Hungary is for the time being not her own mistress, but simply the vassal of the German Government. We must face the facts as they are and act upon them without sentiment in this stern business. The government of Austria-Hungary is not acting upon its own initiative or in response to the wishes and feelings of its own peoples, but as the instrument of another nation. We must meet its force with our own and regard the central powers as but one. The war can be successfully conducted in no other way. The same logic would lead also to a declaration of war against Turkey and Bulgaria. They also are the tools of Germany. But they are mere tools and do not yet stand in the direct path of our necessary action. We shall go wherever the necessities of this war carry us, but it seems to me that we should go only where immediate and practical consideration leads us, and not heed any others.

"The financial and military measures which must be adopted will suggest themselves as the war and its undertakings develop, but I will take the liberty of proposing to you certain other acts of legislation which seem to me to be needed for the support of the war and for the release of our whole force and energy.

"It will be necessary to extend in certain particulars the legislation of the last session with regard to alien enemies, and also necessary, I believe, to create a very definite and particular control over the entrance and departure of all persons into and from the United States.

"Legislation should be enacted defining as a criminal offense every wilful violation of the presidential proclamations relating to alien enemies promulgated under section 4067 of the Revised Statutes and providing appropriate punishments; and women as well as men should be included under the terms of the acts placing restraint upon alien enemies. It is likely that as time goes on many alien enemies will be willing to be fed and housed at the expense of the government in the detention camps, and it would be the purpose of the legislation I have suggested to confine offenders among them in penitentiaries and other similar institutions, where they could be made to work as other criminals do.

"Recent experience has convinced me that the Congress must go further in authorizing the government to set limits to prices. The law of supply and demand, I am sorry to say, has been replaced by the law of unrestrained selfishness. While we have eliminated profiteering in several branches of industry, it still runs impudently rampant in others. The farmers, for example, complain, with a great deal of justice, that, while the regulation of food prices restricts their incomes, no restraints are placed upon the prices of the things they must themselves purchase; and similar inequities obtain on all sides.

"It is imperatively necessary that the consideration of the full use of the water power of the country and also of the consideration of the systematic and yet economical development of such of the natural resources of the country as are still under the control of the Federal Government should be immediately resumed and affirmatively and constructively and dealt with at the earliest possible moment. The pressing need of such legislation is daily becoming more obvious.

"The legislation proposed at the last session with regard to regulated combinations among our exporters, in order to provide for our foreign trade a more effective organization and method of co-operation, ought by all means to be completed at this session.

"And I beg that the members of the House of Representatives will permit me to express the opinion that it will be impossible to deal in any way but a very wasteful and extravagant fashion with the enormous appropriations of the public moneys which must continue to be made, if the war is to be properly sustained, unless the House will consent to return to its former practice of initiating and preparing all appropriation bills through a single committee, in order that responsibility may be centered, expenditures standarized and made uniform and waste and duplication as much as possible avoided.

"Additional legislation may also become necessary before the present Congress adjourns in order to effect the most efficient co-ordination and operation of the railways and other transportation systems of the country; but to that I shall, if circumstances should demand, call the attention of Congress upon another occasion.

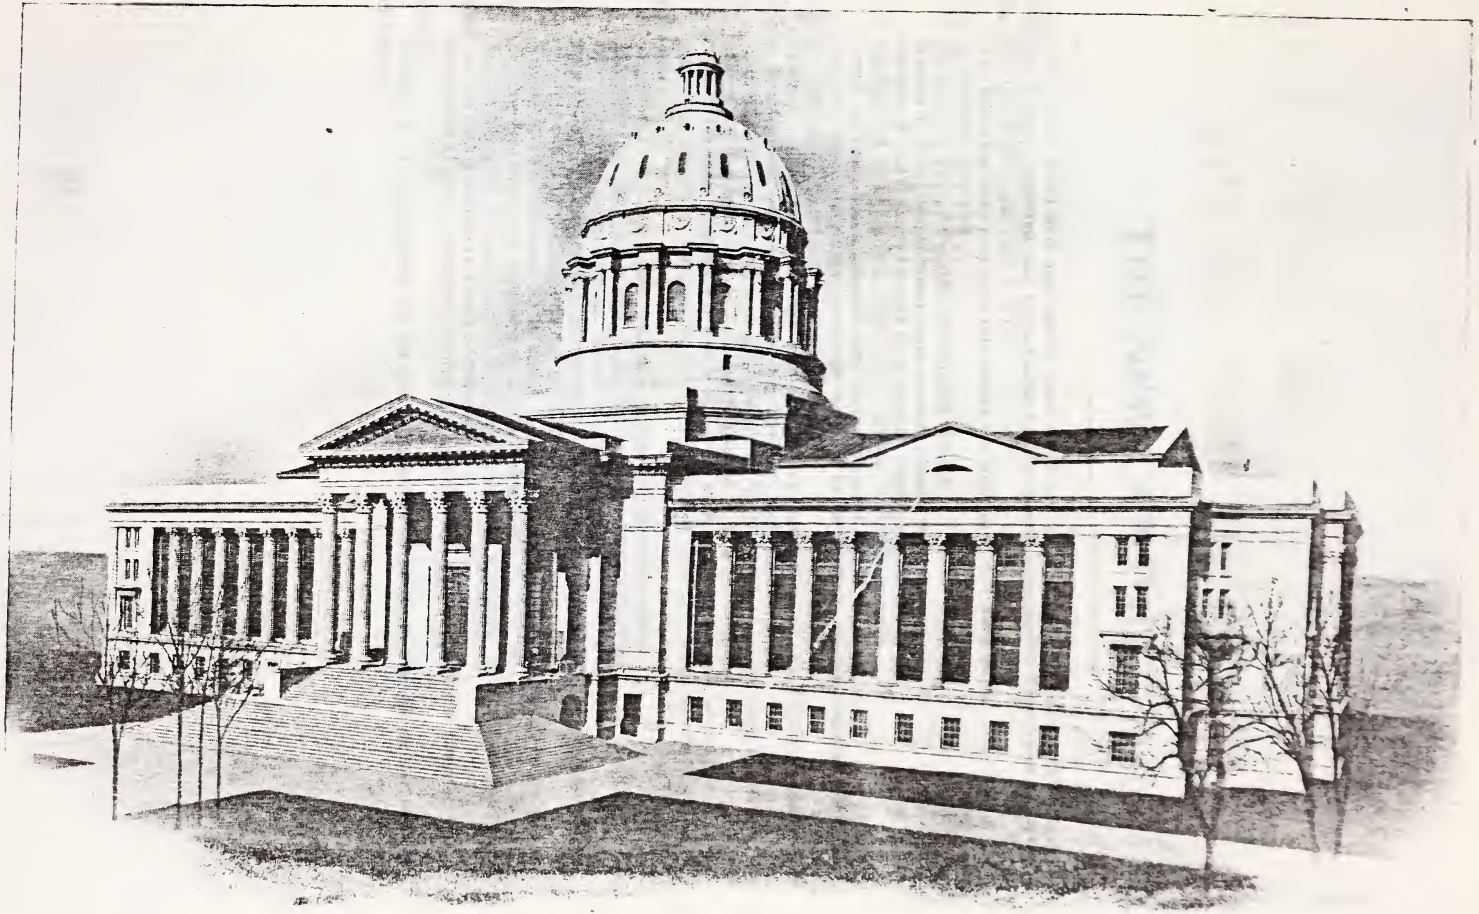

"If I have overlooked anything that ought to be done for the more effective conduct of the war, your own counsels will supply the omission. What I am perfectly clear about is that in the present session of Congress our whole attention and energy should be concentrated on the vigorous and rapid and successful prosecution of the great task of winning the war.

"We can do this, with all the greater zeal and enthusiasm, because we know that for us this is a war of high principle, debased by no selfish ambition of conquest or spoliation, because we know, and all the world knows, that we have been forced into it to save the very institutions we live under from corruption and destruction. The purposes of the central powers strike straight at the very heart of everything we believe in; their methods of warfare outrage every principle of humanity and of knightly honor; their intrigue has corrupted the very thought and spirit of many of our people; their sinister and secret diplomacy has sought to take our very territory away from us and disrupt the union of the states. Our safety would be at an end, our honor forever sullied and brought into contempt were we to permit their triumph. They are striking at the very existence of democracy and liberty.

"It is because it is for us a war of high, disinterested purpose, in which all the free peoples of the world are banded together for the vindication of right; a war for the preservation of our nation and of all that it has held dear of principle and of purpose, that we feel ourselves doubly constrained to propose for its outcome only that which is righteous and of irreproachable intention, for our foes as well as for our friends. The cause being just and holy, the settlement must be of like motive and quality. For this we can fight, but for nothing less noble or less worthy of our traditions. For this cause we entered the war and for this cause will we battle until the last gun is fired.

"I have spoken plainly in order that all the world may know that even in the heat and ardor of the struggle, and when our whole thought is carrying the war through to its end, we have not forgotten any ideal or principle for which the name of America has been held in honor among the nations, and for which it has been our glory to contend in the great generations that went before us. A supreme moment of history has come. The eyes of the people have been opened and they see. The hand of God is laid upon the nations. He will show them favor, I devoutly believe, only if they rise to the clear heights of his own justice and mercy."

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

The Legislature of Missouri convenes in regular session in the State capitol at Jefferson City on the first Wednesday after the first day of January in each odd numbered year. It is divided into two houses, called the Senate and the House of Representatives, collectively designated as the General Assembly of the State of Missouri. The Senators are elected for four years—those from the odd numbered districts being chosen in the same year of the Presidential election, and those from the even numbered districts in the intervening even numbered years.

There are under the present apportionment thirty-four Senators and one hundred and forty-two Representatives. The members of the House are elected every two years. The Senate is presided over by the Lieutenant-Governor, who receives a salary of $1,000 a year and a per diem of $7.00 when presiding over the Senate. The Senators receive a per diem of $5.00 per day during the first seventy days of each regular session, and for 120 days for each revising session, and after that time but one dollar per day.

The House is presided over by a Speaker of its own selection, whose per diem is the same as that of Lieutenant-Governor, and the members receive the same per diem and are under the same restrictions as to length of session as are the members of the Senate. The members of both House and Senate receive traveling expenses in coming to and returning from the session, and thirty dollars per session for stationery and postage.

JUDICIAL.

WALLER W. GRAVES
CHIEF JUSTICE

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENTS.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF SUPREME COURT.

When the Constitution of 1820 went into force the Legislature divided the state into four judicial districts and required two sessions of the Supreme Court to be held annually in each, and the places fixed upon for holding court were Franklin, and a little later Fayette in Howard county, Bowling Green in Pike, Jackson in Cape Girardeau county, and the city of St. Louis. That was the arrangement until 1843. No sessions were held at the state capital in those years. In 1843 the Legislature required all the sessions of the Supreme Court to be thereafter held at the seat of government, which, of course, meant Jefferson City. But that rule did not long prevail. In 1849 it was provided that two sessions of the court should also be held annually in St. Louis. In 1861 it was further provided that two sessions should also be held in St. Joseph, and two sessions of the court were held annually in Jefferson City, St. Louis and St. Joseph, until 1875, and a part of that time two sessions were also held each year in Hannibal. But the Constitution of 1875 put a stop to all this. It required all the sessions thereafter to be held at the seat of government.

From 1820 to about 1870 the Supreme Court was composed of three judges, and until 1851 they were appointed by the Governor. The first judges were Mathias McGirk of Montgomery county, John D. Cook of Cape Girardeau, and John Rice Jones, then of Pike county, but earlier a resident of Potosi and St. Louis. Mr. Jones was the first English-speaking lawyer west of the Mississippi river, and in fact the first west of Vincennes, Ind., where he opened up an office in 1783. He died in 1824, and was succeeded by George Tompkins, who served until 1845 and then retired, having reached the age of sixty-five years, beyond which age no one, under the Constitution of 1820, was capable of being judge of either the Supreme or Circuit Court. He was succeeded by William Scott, who wrote the original opinion in the famous Dred Scott case, which went to the Supreme Court of the United States, whose decision so profoundly stirred the whole country.

The Constitution of 1875 provided for a Supreme Court of five judges, but in addition also created the St. Louis Court of Appeals, and in 1884 it was amended so as to create the Kansas City Court of Appeals, and also so amended as to authorize the Legislature to create one other court of appeals at its discretion, and in 1909 it created the Springfield Court of Appeals. In 1890 it was again amended so as to require the Supreme Court to be composed of seven judges, and to be divided into two divisions for most cases, but to consist of all the judges sitting in banc in certain named conditions. To help out the Supreme Court in its work the Legislature in 1883 provided for a commission of three lawyers to be appointed by the court, and this commission was continued until the amendment of 1884 creating the Kansas City Court of Appeals relieved the court of much work and made its help no longer necessary. But the number of cases appealed to the court continued to increase, and in 1911 the Legislature provided for a commission of four lawyers to be chosen by the court, and that commission has been continued to the present time.

Between 1821 and 1851 the salary of a Supreme Judge was $1,100; in 1851 it was increased to $1,500; in 1855 to $2,500; in 1865 to $3,000; in 1868 to $4,500, and it stood at $4,500 until 1915, when it was increased to $7,500.

When sessions of the court were held at Franklin, Fayette, Bowling Green, Jackson, Cape Girardeau, St. Louis, Hannibal, St. Joseph, they were held either in rented buildings or in the county courthouse. Not until 1877 was a separate building provided for the court, and it cost $17,000. In 1901 the Legislature made an appropriation for the erection of a new and distinct building for the court's uses, and that resulted in the present building which stands just south of the capitol grounds, and which cost all told over $400,000.

DIRECTORY—SUPREME COURT.

Court sits in Jefferson City. Terms begin on the second Tuesdays in April and October. Judges elected for a term of ten years; salary $4,500 and $3,000 additional as member of commission to designate opinions to be published and for preparation of syllabi of decisions. The Court elects its Chief Justice and each division a Presiding Judge thereof. Each Judge is authorized to appoint one stenographer at a salary of one hundred and twenty-five dollars per month; and each Commissioner is allowed a stenographer at the same compensation.

AGRICULTURE, STATE BOARD OF.

The Missouri State Board of Agriculture has a new home, composed of nine rooms on the second or legislative floor of the new capitol building in Jefferson City, just across the aisle north of the Senate.

The board, on June 14, 1917, by practically a unanimous vote, decided to move from Columbia to the new capitol, when completed, in keeping with the general recommendation of Governor Frederick D. Gardner that the state's business be housed together insofar as practicable.

The board and the College of Agriculture will co-operate in the same spirit and manner in the conducting of farmers' week, which will be held as usual in Columbia, and for 1918 on January 14-18.

The board was created by law March 13, 1865, and is composed of sixteen appointive members, who serve without pay, in conjunction with the ex officio members—the Governor, the State Superintendent of Schools and the dean of the College of Agriculture.

The Governor appoints one member from each congressional district for four years, and four members' terms expire each year. The officers, president, vice-president, secretary, assistant secretary and treasurer, are elected every four years. The State Veterinarian, deputy veterinarians, Dairy Commissioner and State Apiary Inspector are selected by the board.

Among the duties of the state board and its servants is the control of diseases of live stock, covering a veterinary service of more than two hundred deputies, headed by Dr. D. F. Luckey; dairying, in charge of E. G. Bennett, State Dairy Commissioner; the farmers' institute work; apiary inspection, in charge of M. E. Darby (no appropriation for 1917-1918); monthly farm bulletins; monthly crop reports; year book; farm statistics; agricultural publicity bureau, and the new commercial mixed feed inspection law, controlling the labeling and proper sale of millions of dollars' worth of mixed feeds in this state. Two of the most important duties of the board is the control of hog cholera and bovine tuberculosis. The board's calf club movement is doing great service. This department in general is the legally constituted organization for the furtherance of the practical interests of agriculture, especially in executive, regulatory and promotional fields.

The board has other activities, but mention will not be made in detail of each separate line of duty. Under the law the board is advisory council of the College of Agriculture, but their authority in this regard does not extend to the degree of power for dictating policies and curatorial management.

The Missouri State Fair is in charge of this board, acting with a separate president, who is a member, and with a paid secretary—Ernest G. Bylander—who is not a member of the board. The State Fair at Sedalia is a big institution, and this board as the custodian successfully manages this million-dollar property and educational enterprise which is truly a big booster for Missouri as a leading live stock and agricultural state.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT.

Recognizing the value of improved roads, and their material influence in the agricultural and industrial development of the state, Governor Frederick D. Gardner included in his inaugural message an urgent demand for the enactment of progressive road legislation.

Hon. Harry B. Hawes, a member of the Forty-ninth General Assembly, devoted practically all his time during the session to the preparation and advocacy of constructive road legislation. Measures were enacted which virtually revised all the road laws of Missouri, former statutes being either repealed or amended.

The Hawes' road law, giving assent to federal aid, added to the financial resources of the state for road purposes the enormous sum of $2,545,806.45. This measure also created a State Highway Department with broad powers; provided for the appointment of a bipartisan board of four members, a state highway engineer and two assistants, and imposed upon the department the responsibility of establishing not less than 3,500 miles of "state roads," extending into each of the 114 counties in Missouri. Governor Gardner signed House bill No. 5 (the Hawes' state road law) on March 13, 1917, and announced the appointment of the four members of the State Highway Board.

Co-operating with county, township and district officials, the State Highway Department is advocating a uniform system of modern road construction and maintenance throughout the state. Approved plans and specifications for the construction of bridges and culverts, various types of hard-surfacing and the grading of earth roads are supplied, while state aid projects submitted by local authorities must be approved by the State Highway Engineer.

All funds arising from fees charged for the registration of motor vehicles, the registration of corporations and the sale of option stamps, go into and constitute a "state road fund." From this fund is paid, first, the administrative expenses of the State Highway Department; second, a sum sufficient to enable the state to receive its apportionment of the federal aid fund; third, $200,000 annually to drag or otherwise improve inter-county seat highways; fourth, $200,000 annually as state aid to assist counties, townships or road districts in permanent improvements on county roads. The remainder is used in the construction of state roads as provided by statute.

There are 11,350 miles of approved inter-county seat highways in Missouri, on which $15 per mile per year is expended. The full $200,000 appropriated for state aid on county roads is distributed among the 114 counties and the city of St. Louis in proportion to their assessed valuation, while one-half the cost of constructing "state roads" is paid out of state and federal funds.

STATE INSTITUTIONS.

UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI—COLUMBIA.

The University of Missouri was established by an act of the General Assembly approved February 11, 1839, just two days after the act establishing the public school system of the state was approved. The University was located at Columbia, near the center of the state, June 24, the same year, and the corner stone of the main building was laid July 4, 1840.

The following spring, April 14, 1841, instruction in academic courses was begun. The first class, consisting of two members, was graduated in 1843. Something of the growth of the institution is indicated by the fact that at the seventy-fifth annual commencement, June 6, 1917, 828 degrees and certificates were awarded. Women were first admitted to the University in 1869 in the normal department, which was established in 1867 and opened the next year.

During its first quarter-century the University was maintained on the income from grants of the National Government. In 1867 the state gave its first aid. A sum of $10,000 was appropriated by the General Assembly for building purposes, and 1¾ per cent of the revenue of the state—after one-fourth had been deducted for the public school fund—was set aside and appropriated annually for the support of the University.

The college of agriculture and mechanic arts and the School of Mines and Metallurgy were made departments of the University in 1870, the latter being located at Rolla. The law department was opened in 1872, the medical department in 1873 and the engineering department in 1877. In 1888 the agricultural experiment station was established under an act of Congress. The Missouri state military school was created in 1890, and in 1896 the Board of Curators established the graduate department. The school of journalism was established in 1906; the extension division in 1910, and the school of commerce, now the school of business and public administration, in 1914.

The University of Missouri is now composed of the following schools and colleges: College of arts and science, college of agriculture, school of education, school of journalism, school of law, school of medicine, school of business and public administration, school of engineering, graduate school, extension division and the School of Mines and Metallurgy. All these are at Columbia except the School of Mines and Metallurgy, which is at Rolla. In addition to the work of these divisions, particular lines of work are emphasized in minor divisions, chief of which are the agricultural experiment station, the engineering experiment station and the military school.

The University now has the following buildings at Columbia: Academic hall; Laws observatory; separate buildings for biology, chemistry, business and public administration and geology, law, engineering, manual arts, physics; two power houses; library building; medical laboratory building; Parker memorial hospital; agriculture building; horticulture building; Schweitzer hall, for agricultural chemistry; greenhouses, dairy, farm machinery, live stock judging, veterinary and poultry buildings; the University farm barns and buildings; Switzler hall, for the school of journalism; Benton and Lathrop halls, dormitories for men, and Read hall for women; Rothwell gymnasium; the houses for the president of the University and the dean of the faculty of agriculture; the high school and elementary school buildings. The Gordon Hotel building is now used by the departments of home economics and manual training for elementary school teachers.

At Rolla are the following buildings of the School of Mines and Metallurgy: Mining building and power plant, Chemical hall, Rolla building, Norwood hall, mechanic hall, director's house, workshop, Parker hall, ore dressing building, gymnasium and athletic building.

The enrollment by divisions during the session of 1916-17 was as follows:

The government of the University of Missouri is vested in a Board of Curators, consisting of nine members, appointed by the Governor. The terms of three members expire every two years. Members of the board receive no compensation save expenses. Meetings of the entire board are held quarterly, of the executive board at Columbia monthly.

SCHOOL OF MINES AND METALLURGY—ROLLA.

In 1870 the General Assembly of Missouri, in accepting the donation of land for educational purposes made by the general government, through act of Congress, approved July 2, 1862, established an agricultural and mechanical college and a school of mines and metallurgy. The School of Mines and Metallurgy was located at Rolla in Phelps county, and was formally opened in November, 1871. The statutes fix the status of the school as one of the colleges of the State University. There are eleven buildings located on the enclosed campus: Mining and metallurgical building, chemical laboratory, museum and geological survey, workshop, storehouse, director's residence, mechanical building, Norwood hall, Parker hall, gymnasium, engineering building, heating and power plant.

The School of Mines and Metallurgy offers four regular courses leading to degrees and several special courses. The former extend four years and are: (1) Mining engineering; (2) civil engineering; (3) metallurgy; (4) general science; (5) mechanical engineering; (6) electrical engineering; (7) chemical engineering. Special courses are offered in chemistry and assaying, mining, surveying, and electricity. The Geological Bureau has its headquarters at the School of Mines.

The affairs of the school are under the immediate supervision of an executive committee, consisting of three members of the University Board of Curators, selected by that body.

FIRST DISTRICT NORMAL SCHOOL—KIRKSVILLE.

History—Organized as private Normal School by Dr. Joseph Baldwin, October 3, 1867, with Prof. Wm. P. Nason and Dr. James M. Greenwood as leading associates. Prof. Nason died recently at the advanced age of 83; Dr. Greenwood died at his desk in the superintendent's office in Kansas City, August 1, 1914, after thirty-nine years in the superintendency of the Kansas City schools; it became First District Normal School by act of General Assembly approved March 19, 1870; located at Kirksville December 29, 1870; opened as First District Normal School January 1, 1871; $51,400 and fifteen acres for site donated by Adair county; $50,000 appropriated by General Assembly in 1871 to complete original building.

Buildings—Baldwin hall, completed in 1873, 40 rooms; library hall, completed in 1901, 20 rooms; science hall, completed in 1906, 25 rooms; model rural school, completed in 1907, 3 rooms, with manual training shop, cookery appliances, indoor toilets, shower baths, hot and cold water, electric generator, stereopticon, telephone, organ, drinking fountains, all detached from campus and city systems and conducted precisely as if situated in the open country; manual arts hall, completed in 1911, 10 rooms, including boiler room and engine room; greenhouse, completed in 1911; demonstration farm cottage, with shower bath and toilet rooms and accommodations for fifteen men, completed in 1916.

| Total number resident and non-resident students, 1915, 1916 | 4,350 |

Baldwin hall, library hall and science hall were built under earlier ideas of architecture of brick and wood. Being highly combustible, they are protected by an abundance of two and one-half gallon Aaron extinguishers, inside standpipes and hose, and night watch carrying a Newman clock. These buildings are with difficulty kept in a reasonably good state of repair. The institution has good laboratories, school gardens and a school farm. The library contains about 30,000 volumes classified by the Dewey decimal system. This school has continuous sessions, four terms of about three months each corresponding to the seasons.

SECOND DISTRICT NORMAL SCHOOL—WARRENSBURG.

The Second Normal School District was established by an act of the General Assembly, approved March 20, 1870. The commission appointed by the Governor of the state to locate the school selected Warrensburg, the county seat of Johnson county, April 27, 1871. In consideration of such selection, Warrensburg and Johnson county deeded to the state a tract of land containing sixteen acres for a campus and voted municipal and county bonds to the amount of one hundred and seventy-three thousand dollars, the proceeds from the sale of said bonds to be used in the erection of a normal school building.

The corner stone of the main building was laid August 16, 1871, and in June, 1872, the first story was completed and ready for occupancy. But the building as at first projected was not completed until the summer of 1881.

Successive Legislatures added to this beginning an auditorium, a science building, a gymnasium, a heating plant and a training school building.

On March 6, 1915, the first building erected, the auditorium, the science building and the training school building were destroyed by fire, the origin of which is unknown. The monetary loss of this fire to the state is conservatively estimated at $500,000.

The General Assembly of 1915, then in session, appropriated $250,000 toward a restoration of the school plant, and the succeeding Legislature added $55,000. By immediate action the Board of Regents has rebuilt the training school building at a cost of $53,964.61; erected a science hall at a cost of $69,120.24; and is now completing an administration building at a cost of $168,042.72. Provision is also made for a new heating plant at a cost of $50,000. An insurance fund of $80,887.13 has been used to supplement the building and equipment funds.

The school's entrance into the North Central Association of Colleges and High Schools marks the formal recognition of four years of college work. The publication of a number of books, suitable for use in high schools and colleges, by members of the faculty, also indicates a high degree of scholarship.

The enrollment of students for the year ending in May, 1916, is as follows:

|---|---|
| In residence in normal school | 2,021 |
| In residence in training school | 400 |
| In correspondence-study work | 221 |
| In extension work | 48 |
| Students served during the year | 2,690 |

The school has granted over 7,000 diplomas and certificates to teach in the schools of Missouri.

THIRD DISTRICT NORMAL SCHOOL—CAPE GIRARDEAU.

The Third District Normal School was established by an act of the Legislature, approved March 22, 1873. This act created a Board of Regents for the management of the school. After due public notice, bids were received by the Board of Regents for its location, and they determined the location in favor of Cape Girardeau. On the third day of December, 1873, the Board of Regents selected the site for the building and made arrangements for the immediate opening of the school.

The school was opened, with about thirty students attending, in the public school building. In the spring of 1875 the school removed to the normal school building, which had been completed. In 1883 the auditorium of the normal school building was enlarged. In 1895 two wings were added to the building, one on the west and one on the east. The wings were built to furnish suitable halls for the literary societies of the normal school.

On April 7, 1902, the normal school building was burned. A group of new buildings has been erected since that time.

The normal school now has a group of six buildings (two dormitories included): Academic hall, completed in January, 1906; manual training hall, completed December, 1907; training hall, completed November, 1903; science hall, completed January, 1903. Academic hall is the main building of the school, contains an auditorium with seating capacity of 1,600; library, including stack rooms and reading rooms, having a total floor space of 98x65 feet; a gymnasium for men and a gymnasium for women; an art hall 92x35 feet; ladies' parlor four literary society halls, six offices, twenty classrooms. Manual training hall is a completely equipped manual training building. Science hall has six well-equipped laboratories and equipment for cooking and sewing. Training hall is devoted to the elementary school, maintained for practical and experimental work in education.

The attendance of the Third District State Normal School for the last eighteen years has been as follows: 1899-1900, 329; 1900-1901, 373; 1901-1902, 363; 1902-1903, 368; 1903-1904, 451; 1904-1905, 481; 1905-1906, 631; 1906-1907, 777; 1907-1908, 852; 1908-1909, 891; 1909-1910, 903; 1910-1911, 912; 1911-1912, 1,001; 1912-1913, 1,153; 1913-1914, 1,232; 1914-1915, 1,332; 1915-1916, 1,444; 1916-1917, 1,422.

FOURTH DISTRICT NORMAL SCHOOL—SPRINGFIELD.

This institution was established by an act of the Forty-third General Assembly, approved March 17, 1905. The district is composed of twenty-two counties in Southwest Missouri. The commission appointed to locate the school selected Springfield as the site. The bonus given by the citizens of Springfield consisted of forty acres of land inside the city limits, valued at $40,000, and $25,000 in cash.

It began its work in leased buildings June 11, 1906, and enrolled 543 students in its first term. The total enrollment for the year of forty-eight weeks, beginning September, 1906, was 931, and for last year, 2,179. The president and six professors have been with the school from the beginning. More than half of the faculty have been with the school eight years or more.

The Forty-fourth General Assembly appropriated $225,000 for buildings. Academic hall was erected at a cost of approximately $225,000. The corner stone was laid August 10, 1907. It was first occupied by the school January 4, 1909. The Forty-sixth General Assembly appropriated $65,000 for auditorium and gymnasium.

These structures are the only fireproof school buildings owned by the state. They are constructed of Missouri marble, finished in hard wood, handsome in architecture and as complete in heating, ventilation and light as modern science can provide.

This school has had eleven commencements, in August of each year, from 1907 to 1917. In that time it has graduated more than 1,000 from its diploma course and has had 26 to take the degree of B. S. in Education. It has graduated 1,120 from the secondary school course. Academically, the secondary school course is equal to that of a first-class high school, and the full course is equal to that of a junior college. Pedagogically, the secondary course equips one for the successful management of graded and rural schools, and the full course gives complete equipment for supervising and teaching any grade of public school, including high schools.

LINCOLN INSTITUTE—JEFFERSON CITY.

Lincoln Institute had its origin in a fund of $6,379, contributed by the 62nd and 65th regiments of the United States Colored Infantry when discharged from service January 14, 1866, of which the 62nd gave $5,000. The only condition of the gift was that a school be established in Missouri open to the colored people. The board of trustees, ten in number, was organized June 8th and incorporated June 25, 1866, and the school was opened September 17, 1866. In June, 1877, the main building was completed. It was a substantial three-story brick building, 60X70 feet, located just outside the limits of Jefferson City, the grounds containing twenty acres.

The buildings on the grounds are the following: Main institute building, industrial building, president's home, boys' dormitory, girls' dormitory and farm cottage.

STATE HOSPITAL NO. 1—FULTON.

State Hospital No. 1 is located at Fulton, Callaway county, and is one of the oldest institutions of its kind west of the Mississippi river, having been established in 1847.

It is on a tract of land that originally contained 514 acres. During the past biennium an additional 192 acres, adjoining the lands on the east, were purchased, making a total acreage of 736. Something like 200 acres is at present under cultivation, 30 acres in orchards and the remainder in pasture, campus, building sites, etc. From sixty to seventy patients work on the hospital farm, and the products from the farming department contribute in a substantial way towards the support of the institution. In addition to the main building, there are machine shops, carpenter shops, laundry, poultry houses, barnes, dairy, etc. A well equipped hospital building and a tubercular building, separate from the hospital proper, for the care of sick and surgical cases, and for the segregation of those afflicted with tuberculosis. The state property is estimated to be worth $600,000. No new buildings were added during the years 1915 and 1916.

The institution has a cold storage, water, electric light and power plant; complete telephone system and other modern conveniences.

On December 31, 1916, there were 1,214 patients enrolled, 27 on a limited parole—leaving in actual attendance 1,187. The percentage of recoveries for the institution in 1915 and 1916 was 41.5, and the daily average per capita cost for the same period was $0.511c.

STATE HOSPITAL NO. 2—ST. JOSEPH.

State Hospital No. 2 was established by an act of the General Assembly in 1872, authorizing the issuance of bonds to the extent of $200,000. The institution was opened for patients November 9, 1874. First Board of Managers were Allen H. Vories, president; Rufus L. McDonald, secretary; John C. Evans, Silas Woodson, Dr. Joseph Malin, Dr. Edmund A. Donelan and James O. Roberts. The first superintendent was Dr. George C. Cadett. January 25, 1879, the institution was totally destroyed by fire. It was rebuilt, and the reconstructed asylum was opened for the admission of patients on April 1, 1880. It is now the largest of the state hospitals. Its original location was one mile east of the corporate limits of the city of St. Joseph, but it is now within the city limits and is on a tract of extremely fertile land, comprising 232 acres, beautifully located. The management rents in addition to the above 900 acres. Following are the buildings: One main hospital building, four detached buildings for men (one of these especially reconstructed for tubercular patients), four detached buildings for women (one of these especially reconstructed for tubercular patients), one bathhouse and morgue, one cold storage plant, one laundry building and equipments, one power house, boilers and light plant, three greenhouses, two barns, reservoirs, 232 acres of land, live stock, furnishings and other property, bring the total of the state's investment up to $700,405.91.

Total number of patients admitted from the date of the opening of the institution on November 9, 1874, to January 1, 1917: Male, 6,735; female, 4,747; total, 11,482. Total number of "discharges" during same period: Male, 3,773; female, 2,697; total, 6,470. Total number of "deaths" during same period: Male, 2,012; female, 1,189; total, 3,201. Number remaining enrolled January 1, 1917: Male, 950; female, 861; total, 1,811. Number on "parole" January 1, 1917: Male 45; female, 32; total 77. Number "present" January 1, 1917: Male, 905; female, 829; total, 1,734. Average "annual" cost of maintenance per patient present for the years 1915 and 1916 (including clothing and officers' salary), $171.55.

STATE HOSPITAL NO. 3—NEVADA.

State Hospital No. 3 was established by the General Assembly of 1887 and $200,000 appropriated therefor. The institution is located on a tract of land comprising 520 acres, two miles north of Nevada, Vernon county. The commission under whose supervision the institution was located and erected was composed of the following gentlemen: T. R. H. Smith, M. D.; C. L. Dobson, P. McGrath, Ed W. Stevens, W. P. Monroe, R. E. Young, M. D.; T. W. Park and J. T. Coffee, M. D.; M. F. Bell, architect, and Theodore Lacaff, contractor. The Legislature of 1889 appropriated $149,000 and subsequent Legislatures $215,375, a total of $564,375, which has been used in completing the institution. In addition to the original main buildings there have been erected two new wings, chapel, electric light plant, carpenter shop, machine shop, cold storage, ice plant, meat shop, water system, tool house, three barns, vegetable and ice house, creamery, cow sheds, hog sheds, two tubercular buildings, industrial building, boiler room, engine house, garage, celery house, laundry and new kitchen and dining room. An inventory of the state property made January 1, 1917, shows a valuation of $968,354.05.

The institution has an industrial department, a diversional occupation department and a training school for nurses and attendants. The industrial department is divided into two divisions, one for the men and one for the women; the men manufacture brooms, brushes, tables and mattresses, and repair harness, shoes and other articles, and the women make carpets, rugs, quilts, and practically all the clothing used by the patients and all the bed linen used by the institution. The diversional occupation department is conducted by a trained teacher who gives her entire time and attention to teaching and instructing the women patients in the art of needlework, crocheting, rug making, etc. Many valuable and useful articles are made in this department, and about 40 or 50 women patients are in this way given useful employment daily. The value of this kind of employment on the minds of the patients can hardly be overestimated. Diversional occupation of an attractive nature is believed by the present superintendent to be the greatest aid in the treatment of the insane, and under his administration there are 90 per cent of the patients doing some kind of work. Under the present management restraints of all kinds have been eliminated, and this has been accomplished largely through employment of mind and body of all those who are mentally and physically able to perform some task. The training school for nurses and attendants established in 1912 has aided very materially in the doing away with restraints, and in the treatment of the insane at Hospital No. 3. This training school is under the supervision of a superintendent of nurses, who, together with the superintendent and assistant physicians, gives lectures and instructions to both the nurses and attendants in training.

At the present time, July 1, 1917, the institution has under treatment 1,284 patients and 97 out on parole, a total under supervision of 1,381. The daily average population for the biennial period 1915 and 1916 was 1,260. The per capita cost for this period was 50 cents per day. The percentage of recoveries to all cases admitted during this biennial period was 31 per cent.

A large amount of laboratory work is being done by the physicians at this institution and every patient admitted is given a urinalysis, a blood count, a blood pressure, a Wasserman, and when deemed necessary, a spinal puncture. All the modern methods of treatment are being used at this institution, and the percentage of cures is as high as that of any institution in the United States.

STATE HOSPITAL NO. 4—FARMINGTON.

This hospital was established and a commission appointed for its location at the session of the General Assembly of 1899. Three hundred and twenty-six acres of land were purchased near Farmington, the state paying $13,889.90 and the citizens paying $6,110 10 for same. Subsequently 65 acres at $100.00 per acre were purchased, making a total of 391 acres.

The original appropriation for hospital buildings was $150,000. From time to time other appropriations have been made by the Legislature, until now Hospital No. 4 has a large number of beautiful, modern and up-to-date buildings, located in the foothills of the Ozarks, with beautiful scenery, fine water, pure air and perfect hygienic surroundings. The buildings at present consist of the administration building; superintendent's residence; Folk building for nurses, attendants and amusements; the Governor's cottage row, consisting of the Stephens, Dockery, Hadley and Major cottages; also the Berry, Hall, Cayce and Farm cottages. There is also a large hospital building, the Harrison, accommodating 150 patients, and the tubercular villa, accommodating 65 patients; a general dining room, kitchen, storeroom, ice plant, vegetable room, power house, laundry, hay barn and stock barn. There is a peach and apple orchard consisting of 15 acres, with a small grape vineyard. There are three deep wells, affording an inexhaustible supply of pure, cool water, and a steel tank of 50,000 gallons capacity.

A great deal of work and considerable money have been expended on the driveways and walks, all of which are in a beautiful and most excellent condition.

Hospital No. 4 was opened for patients January 1, 1903, since which time it has made a continuous growth, until today it is one of the prettiest, one of the best arranged and one of the most substantial of all our state institutions. During the past biennial period there has been built a modern tuberculosis cottage, accommodating 75 patients; there was also built a farm cottage for the out help.

Since the opening of the hospital there have been admitted up to July 1, 1917, 1,413 male and 1,224 female patients; total, 2,637. Of all those admitted 670 have been discharged as recovered, the same being 25.4 per cent of all those admitted. On July 1, 1917, there were present in the hospital 717 patients and on parole 10 patients, making a total on the life register of the hospital of 727 patients.

The annual per capita cost of maintenance for the biennial period ending December 31, 1916, was $164.25; the daily per capita cost for the same period was $0.45. The board paid by the various counties for each patient is $156.00 per annum; the board paid for private patients is $204.00 per annum. It will thus be seen that the State of Missouri is very charitable at State Hospital No. 4 in making up these deficits. The cottage plan is more expensive but more desirable in every way.

STATE CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS HOME—HIGGINSVILLE.

This institution orignated in the earnest efforts of a number of charitable men and women of Missouri, who began the commendable work of providing a home for the old infirm and dependent Confederate soldiers, their wives, widows and orphans. A large and excellent tract of land containing 362 acres was purchased near Higginsville, and a number of frame cottages, a church building and a large and commodious two-story brick structure erected thereon. The land and buildings cost about $68,000. By act of the General Assembly of 1897 the home was declared to be one of the eleemosynary institutions of the state, and the commonwealth assumed the support of the institution for twenty years, or so long as shall be needed for the purpose of section 7789, Revised Statutes of Missouri of 1899. The then executive committee of the home conveyed the property to the state. The property now consists of the original two-main building containing sixteen large rooms and a large dormitory and dining room, with a seating capacity of 110, also commodious kitchen and laundry, together with ample lavatories, closets and bathrooms. Hospital No. 1, 20 rooms, dormitory, dining room, kitchen and bathrooms. Hospital No. 2, 10 rooms, 4 dormitories, bathrooms and closets. New dormitory, 4 large rooms, bath and toilet and closets; sleeping capacity of 40 people. McLure flats, 10 rooms, closets and bathrooms; capacity of 32 people.

Twenty cottages, chapel, power house, ice plant and cold storage; 25,000 gallon steel water tank; electric light plant which furnishes power for laundry, pumps and ice plant.

STATE FEDERAL SOLDIERS HOME ST. JAMES.

This institution originated in the year 1891. Its origin was due to the untiring efforts of the Womens' Relief Corps and the G. A. R. in their work to secure a home for the old and dependent Federal soldiers and their wives and widows.

An organization known as the Federal Soldiers Home Association was incorporated in the city of St. Louis in the year 1891.

The citizens of St. James and vicinity, aided by their friends in other parts of the state, purchased and donated to the association a sixty-acre tract of land on which was located a large dwelling known as the James mansion. This was originally purchased for the sum of $70,000. The association expended some $7,000 in repairs and improvements, and on June 25, 1897, conveyed the property for the consideration of $1.00 to the State of Missouri for a State Federal Soldiers Home.

The Thirty-ninth General Assembly appropriated $10,000 for support. The Forty-first General Assembly appropriated $22,000 for a dormitory and hospital, which were erected. The Forty-third General Assembly appropriated $3,000 for a commissary building, and the further sum of $15,000 for a dormitory building, both having been in use since May 1, 1906. The Forty-fourth General Assembly appropriated $10,500 for a steam heating plant, which was erected and has been in use since December, 1907, and the further sum of $1,300 for the enlargement of the laundry, and the same was used. There was also $900 appropriated for a sidewalk from the home to the city of St. James.

Since this time there has been many other improvements made towards the uplifting of the institution, such as a modern reinforced concrete smokestack, and an addition of a building for the use of a bakery and a large oven for the same, and other general repairing in line of painting, plastering, overhauling, which has made a great improvement in the home.

The valuation of the property will now estimate about $143,888.04. The management of the institution is vested in a board of five trustees. Each member receives $100 per year and traveling expenses, as for other state institutions.

There are now in the home 319 inmates, 193 men and 126 women. During the last biennial period 59 inmates died. The cost for support being 61 cents per capita per diem.

RULES FOR ADMISSION TO THE HOME.

Those entitled to admission.—That the soldiers and sailors who shall be entitled to admission to the said home, shall be citizens of the State of Missouri, and shall have served and participated in the war of the rebellion for the preservation of the union of the United States, or in the Mexican war, and who were honorably discharged from the said service, and who are in indigent circumstances, and from any disability, not received in any illegal act, are unable to support themselves by manual labor, and that the aged wife or widow of such soldier or sailor and army nurses who served with the army of the United States, or such ex-members of the Enrolled Missouri Militia who served ninety days or more in the field during the civil war shall also be entitled to admission in the said home, provided they are in indigent circumstances and are unable to support themselves by manual labor, and who shall have resided in the state one year prior to the time of making application for admission to the home.

Provided, however, that such applicants are not afflicted with such disease or imbecility as to require constant service of an attendant. Provided that no wife shall be admitted to the home who shall not be over fifty years of age, nor widow who has not reached the age of sixty years, unless by special order of the board of trustees.

The following general information may be found useful:

1. Letters of inquiry on behalf of an intended applicant should state name, service and postoffice address before asking for the blanks.

2. All outlay for railroad tickets and other expenses of persons coming to the home must be borne by themselves or others for them. County courts are authorized by the law to incur this expense.

3. Persons afflicted by incurable malady or infectious diseases, or any grade of insanity, are not eligible for admission to the home, although otherwise eligible. If such are sent, they will be returned at once at the cost of the ones sending them.

4. No furniture of any sort should be brought to the home. But wearing apparel, chair cushions, headrests, work baskets, or other small articles of room ornament as applicant may have, may be brought with them.

5. Neither children or dependent relatives of soldiers are eligible to this home, nor wives of soldiers under the age of fifty or widow under the age of sixty years of age.

6. Every applicant must pass a physical examination by his local physician and be examined and passed by the home surgeon upon arrival before admission. Two creditable persons acquainted with the applicant's circumstances must be present and make oath thereto with him before a magistrate; lastly, the applicant must have the recommendation of either a post commander, a corps president, trustee of the board or judge of any county court or probate court.

MISSOURI SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF—FULTON.

The Missouri School for the Deaf was established in 1851, an act of the Legislature providing for the transfer of forty acres of land and the buildings thereon from the State Lunatic Asylum, to be dedicated to this school. The school was opened November 5, 1851, with a single pupil from St. Louis. By July 16, 1852, the attendance was 17, which number increased the second year to 54. In 1854 an additional tract of eighteen acres was purchased and a building erected at a cost of $28,000.

In 1866 an appropriation was made for a workshop, and in 1879 a printing press was added. The school now comprises a group of twelve substantial buildings, with schoolhouse on the west and trades building on the east. The main buildings have a frontage of 225 feet and are four stories high. The school building contains 33 rooms, with a chapel and gallery.

The trades taught include cooking, baking, cabinet making, tailoring, printing, shoemaking, harness making, blacksmithing, barbering, gardening, sewing and dressmaking. The number of pupils December 31, 1916, was 286.

The management is vested in a Board of Managers, composed of five members, appointed as are the boards of the other eleemosynary institutions of the state. The superintendent and teachers are appointed by the Board of Managers.

ADMISSION OF PUPILS.

1. All children in the state under 21 years of age, and too deaf to be instructed in the common schools, may be admitted into this school free of charge for board and tuition; provided, no one shall be admitted who is feeble-minded, or afflicted with sore eyes, or with contagious or offensive disease, or who, for any reasons, is unable to attend to the ordinary duties of school.

2. Attention is called to the fact that this is not an asylum for the defective, nor a home for the friendless, nor a hospital for the diseased. It is simply a part of the public school system of the state—a school where deaf children receive an education as a matter of right, not as a matter of charity.

3. Parents or guardians wishing to have a child admitted should apply to the superintendent, who will send desired information concerning the school and certain blanks that must be filled out and returned before the child can be received.

4. The annual session begins on the second Wednesday in September and ends on the first Wednesday in June. Pupils should be brought to the institution at the opening of school and remain until the close. Only in extreme cases will pupils be permitted to enter after school has begun or leave before the end of the term.

MISSOURI SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND—ST. LOUIS.

The Missouri School for the Blind was founded in 1851 by Mr. Eli W. Whelan, opening with three blind pupils as a private charitable enterprise. It became a few years later a state institution, and has furnished instruction to 1,321 blind children. It is a public school for children of defective sight between the ages of six and twenty. Courses of study are from the kindergarten to the high school. An eight-year course of piano and pipe organ, composition and harmony, and industrial department for both sexes. The boys are taught broom making, chair caning, wood sloyd and piano tuning. The girls are taught knitting, sewing, basket making and cooking. The school is located at Spring and Magnolia avenues, opposite Tower Grove park, and when completed will be one of the best institutions in the country for the education of blind children. The building is a plain, fireproof, two-story structure, especially adapted for its purpose. Half of the girls' wing is not yet erected, which leaves music practice rooms and dormitories still unprovided for.

This institution was established by an act of the Legislature approved May 24, 1899, and was located at Marshall. It was declared in the act of establishment to be for "The humane, curative, scientific and economic treatment of the feeble-minded and epileptic." The law provided that the institution should be built on the cottage or village plan, and should contain cottages for domiciliary use, an infirmary, chapel, schoolhouse and workshop. The management is vested in five managers, two of whom shall be women, and but two of the others to be of the controlling political party. The term of office is four years, two to be first appointed for two years, three for four years and vacancies to be filled every two years thereafter. Compensation, $100 a year and traveling expenses. The officers of the institution are superintendent, treasurer, steward and matron. The Legislature of 1899 appropriated $30,000 and that of 1901 $150,000. Nine cottages have been erected and other buildings provided for by law.

MISSOURI STATE SANATORIUM—MT. VERNON.

Dr. James Stewart of Warren county introduced in the House of Representatives of the Forty-third General Assembly a bill (which became a law) providing for the establishment, at some place in the state, of an institution for the treatment of tuberculosis in its earlier stages. Fifty thousand dollars was appropriated for establishing this institution, and the act provided for the board to select location and cause the erection of suitable buildings.

During the fall of 1905 the board, after inspecting many available sites, decided on one of 200 acres offered by the citizens of Mt. Vernon, Lawrence county, Missouri. This beautiful little village is on the crest of the Ozarks, the climate of which already has considerable of a reputation for the curing of tuberculosis. A suitable building was erected and turned over to the Board of Managers in the spring of 1907. The Forty-fourth General Assembly appropriated $135,000 for other buildings, equipment and maintenance; the Forty-fifth, $164,250; the Forty-sixth, $170,000; the Forty-seventh, $153,000; the Forty-eighth, $175,000, and the Forty-ninth General Assembly made an appropriation of $178,500.

Nine permanent buildings are completed and in use.

RULES OF ADMISSION.

The law provides for two classes of patients, namely, free patients and private patients. The proper method of applying in each case is as follows:

A free patient makes an affidavit to the clerk of the court of the county in which he resides, or if in the city of St. Louis, to the city auditor, to the effect that he desires admission to the Missouri State Sanatorium, and that he is unable to pay for his support and treatment while there.

The court after investigation, and finding the applicant to be worthy of the charity, recommends his admission to the sanatorium.

Private patients apply directly to the sanatorium. A list is kept of each class of applicants. The names are placed on the list in the order of their receipt.

When a vacancy occurs the person whose name appears first on the list of free patients is referred to an examining physician for examination. If there are no applications from free patients, the one whose name appears first on the list of private patients is referred to an examiner.

The cases that are found to be in the incipient stage are sent to the sanatorium.

The county transports the free patients. Only those who have been residents of Missouri for at least one year can be taken as patients to the sanatorium.

MISSOURI PENAL INSTITUTIONS.

BOARD OF CONTROL.

Heretofore each of the penal institutions were under the control of a board composed of five members appointed by the Governor. The Forty-ninth General Assembly, by an act approved April 12, 1917, known as the "State Prison Board Act," placed the management and control of the penal institutions of the state under the board of three members known as the State Prison Board. The board is constituted as follows:

| Name. | Residence. | Salary per annum |
|---|---|---|
| William R. Painter, president | Carrollton | $1,000 00 |
| J. Kelly Pool | Centralia | 3,500 00 |
| Henry Andrae | Jefferson City | 3,500 00 |

Willard P. King, secretary.

This board controls the following institutions:

MISSOURI STATE PENITENTIARY - JEFFERSON CITY.

The erection of a State Penitentiary "house" at Jefferson City was authorized by an act of the General Assembly, approved January 16, 1833, appropriating $25,000 for the cost of erection and providing for its completion by October 1, 1834. The contractor failing to complete it in the given time, the Legislature of 1835 passed a special resolution authorizing James Dunica, the commissioner, to complete the stone work under contract with J. A. Crump and E. Finley. The Prison Inspection Board was created by ar act approved March 18, 1835. The same act provided for a warden to be chosen by a joint vote of the General Assembly. The first prisoner was received March 8, 1836, and the total number of prisoners for that year was eighteen. From the opening until January 1, 1917, 42,605 prisoners have been received. The greatest number imprisoned at any one time was 2,957. On June 1, 1916, there were 2,871 male and 86 female convicts in the Missouri Penitentiary.

The state property at the penitentiary was appraised in December, 1916, at $2,405,624.46.

THE MISSOURI REFORMATORY—BOONVILLE.

The school was created by the act approved March 30, 1887, and was located near the city of Boonville, by a commission composed of Governor Jno. S. Marmaduke, Attorney-General B. G. Boone and Register of Lands Robert McCullouch. The main building was erected by contract under the supervision of this commission, and was opened for the reception of boys on the first of January, 1889.

The tract of land originally purchased as a site for the institution contained one hundred and eighty-one acres. The Legislature of 1897 appropriated seven thousand dollars, with which one hundred and sixty-nine acres lying east of and adjoining the original tract were purchased. A small tract containing eight acres south of the main building was also bought and paid for out of the proceeds of the brickyard, and this tract is now used as a playground and roadway. The Legislature of 1905 appropriated twelve thousand dollars to buy additional land. With this money the board purchased one hundred and forty-two acres adjoining the school property on the south. This tract lies partly within the limits of the city of Boonville, and was the only available land which could be secured by the school. The state now owns five hundred acres of land. There are located upon this land twenty-eight substantial buildings. All of them, except the main building, were constructed by the boys. There is also a brick dwelling house on the land recently purchased. This institution has graded schools up to the eighth grade. Number of boys in school December, 1916, is 509.

INDUSTRIAL HOME FOR GIRLS—CHILLICOTHE.

The State Industrial Home for Girls was established by an act of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly, approved March 30, 1887. The sum of $50,000 was appropriated for this purpose. A commission, composed of the Governor, Attorney-General and Register of Lands, was appointed to locate this home, and on July 28, 1887, they accepted a donation of $5,000 tendered by the citizens of Chillicothe, through the local board of trade, and located the institution in that city on a tract of forty-nine acres. In January, 1889, the first building was opened for the reception of girls. Three cottages, a school building and chapel combined, a boiler house and administration building have since been erected. In 1914 an appropriation of $12,600 was made for the purchase of additional land, and a tract of twenty acres adjoining the home grounds was bought.

Girls between the ages of seven and eighteen may be committed to the home, and may remain until twenty-one years of age. The school conforms to the state course of study and comprises the grammar grades, also special courses in domestic science, domestic art and dressmaking. Instruction in practical housekeeping is given in the family cottages to all girls. Those who show musical ability receive instruction therein.

Ten hundred and seventy-six girls have been committed to the home; two hundred and twenty-one were enrolled December 31, 1916.

CITIES, TOWNS AND VILLAGES.

Following is a list, by counties of the incorporated places in Missouri, the names of the officers for 1917-1918, and the names of the postmasters. The names of congressman, state senator, circuit judge and representative appear under each county heading. It will be noted that a number of large towns (mostly in mining districts) do not appear in these lists. It is because they are not incorporated. County seat towns are first in the list, and township constables, with their postoffice addresses, follow each county.

MISSOURI AND THE WAR.

MISSOURI AND THE WAR.

(By Floyd C. Shoemaker.)

When the first expeditionary force of United States troops landed in Havre, France, this summer to battle for a world democracy, they were led by a Missourian—Major-General John J. Pershing, a native of Linn county. As judge-advocate-general in the United States army, another Missourian—Brigadier-General Enoch H. Crowder, of Grundy county, had general direction of the legal work of the expedition. General Crowder also had charge of all legal matters connected with the army and with the operation of the new selective draft law.

When the first American flotilla of destroyers in active service in European waters arrived at Queenstown, it was directed by another Missourian—Commander Joseph K. Taussig, of St. Louis, son of Rear Admiral Edward D. Taussig, also of St. Louis.

When this nation began the campaign for greater food production to support its millions of European allies the work was placed under the direction of a former Missourian—Hon. David F. Houston, United States Secretary of Agriculture, and former Chancellor of Washington University, St. Louis. Hon. Carl Vrooman, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture and a native born son of Macon county, Missouri, became the leader in the speaking publicity campaign on national food production and conservation which was launched in May. Mr. Vrooman said in an address in Kansas City, Missouri, on May 21, 1917, that Missouri and Kansas were the real leaders in the great food drive and that these states and a few others, were expected to furnish the greatest amount of food stuffs.

When the National Committee on Information and Publicity was created in Washington recently, a Missourian—George Creel, a native of Lafayette county and a former newspaper reporter of Kansas City—was called to the chairmanship.

The critical situation in Russia, which affects so vitally her position as one of the Allies, has made a Missourian, Hon. David R. Francis, United States Ambassador to Russia, the most important and most popular diplomat in Petrograd today. Mr Charles R. Crane, of Chicago, one of the American commissioners to Russia, recently said of him:

"At the beginning of his term as Ambassador there were some who felt concerned about his being a real diplomat because he lived simply, drove a Ford fervently, and when he wanted a thing done, did it himself. But today he (David R. Francis) is altogether the most popular and most influential person in Petrograd, and among all classes. If he had been one of the old types of luxurious gold-lace-wearing diplomats, he would have failed."

Following the first call for volunteers in the regular United States army this spring, 1,315 Missourians had responded by April 24th, not including those who joined the National Guard, giving this state a rank of thirteen in the percentage of enlistments, a position higher than that of any of the Atlantic seaboard commonwealths excepting Georgia and Florida. In response to the call for seamen for the United States army, the first recruiting station to fill its quota, within the time limit, was Kansas City, Missouri.

When the Nation's preparedness food campaign was launched this spring, Governor Frederick D. Gardner of Missouri was among the first of the state executives to call a state-wide convention by proclamation to carry out the wishes of the President and Congress. The popular financial campaign of the Nation which was begun in May with the slogan "A Liberty Bond in Every Home," was received by Governor Gardner proclaiming Friday, May 25, as "Liberty Day" throughout the state.

When the National Government began its invoice of munition material and resources in the United States, a delegation of men appeared in Washington and listed in the cause of country the output of the greatest lead and zinc mines in the world—the mines of Southwest Missouri.

What Missouri is doing to advance the cause of this Nation and the Allies through her Pershing, Crowder, Creel, Francis, Gardner, Houston, and Vrooman; through her hundreds of army and navy volunteers; and her bankers, farmers, and business men—she is even excelling through her local communities in their every day life. Her State University at Columbia inaugurated selective service before the National Bill became a law by discriminatingly excusing from class work six hundred agricultural college students trained and willing to raise crops. A University ambulance company now serving in France was trained and equipped through personal and public contribution. University experts in engineering, medicine and agriculture offered their services and are now doing their part. From scores of counties and a hundred villages and cities have departed Missouri's young men to volunteer for officer's service at the Fort Riley training school. Boy scouts in town and city have done their bit by planting vacant lots to increase the supply of potatoes, corn and vegetables. Municipal gardens on donated land have been tilled in answer to the call of country. A State-wide Council of Defense, under the chairmanship of Mr. F. B. Mumford, dean of the College of Agriculture, is directing the Missouri food campaign in reaching every township. All voluntary, and significant of the attitude and the energy of Missouri in this struggle.

With the organization of the Council of National Defense at Washington, pursuant to the declaration of war in April, 1917, President Wilson directed a call to the various states for the organization of state councils of defense, to co-ordinate with the parent branch in the activities it directed. The object was to mobilize the resources of the nation for war and unify its patriotism. In states where the legislatures were in session, or in access of call, the state councils were created by law and appropriations commensurate with the importance of the work made therefor. The Missouri Council of Defense was created by Governor Frederick D. Gardner by proclamation, and its functions and duties indicated in these words:

"The idea of a State Council of Defense is an outgrowth of the old State Council of Safety of the Revolutionary War. The duties of such a Council, among other things, are:

1st. To mobilize and conserve all the resources of the state.

2nd. To co-operate with the War and Navy Departments, the Secretary of Agriculture, the Federal Trade Commission, and the National Council of Defense.

3rd. To assist in a movement to prevent uneconomic speculation in the necessaries of life.

4th. To take the lead in all movements for assisting the farmer, also in exploiting the advantage of municipal and community gardening; shall co-operate with the College of Agriculture, State Board of Agriculture and the Superintendent of Schools, etc.

5th. In brief, this Committee will be the supreme authority of the commonwealth in relation to the state's duties to the nation during the entire period of the war.

(Signed) FREDERICK D. GARDNER,
Governor."

Efforts made to finance the state council by voluntary contributions were abandoned after their inpracticability had been demonstrated, and a plan was devised and executed, whereby a fund of $100,000 was underwritten by twenty members as an emergency measure, and the funds placed at the disposal of the council.

The immediate activities of the Missouri Council of Defense were directed toward the establishment of county councils in all the 114 counties and in further extension of the organization by the creation of township councils. By September 15, 1917, county organizations were at work in all the counties and city of St. Louis; township organizations were complete in 67 counties, and the membership of the Missouri Council of Defense and all subsidiaries was more than 8,500.

Missouri's chief duty to the nation lay in her agricultural resources, and the first work carried out through the branch councils was aimed at stimulating the production of food crops. To bring about an increased acreage, a larger yield, more gardens, better methods of planting and tilling, the Missouri Council of Defense brought its branch councils in direct communication with the research and informative work of the College of Agriculture, the State Board of Agriculture, the United States Department of Agriculture and allied organizations. Bulletins, news letters, instruction letters, posters and so forth were employed in this campaign of education.

In the administration of the essential war measures, the Missouri Council of Defense bent every effort to assist the National Government. These activities included stimulation of recruiting, assistance in the floating of the liberty loan and raising of the Red Cross apportionment; co-operation in the selection of local and district exemption boards; assistance in the interpretation of the selective conscription act; and organization of home guards.

Women's defense work, particularly in the field of food conservation, has been carried on as an allied activity of the Missouri Council of Defense. The registration of Missouri women, outside of St. Louis, for national service was carried on from the Jefferson City headquarters.

Underlying the mobilization of Missouri's boundless resources for war has been the stimulation of patriotic thought. The patriotic response of the people of the state to the emergency was felt concertedly on July 28, when by proclamation of the Governor, Patriotic Day celebrations were observed over the state. Subsequently, the Missouri Council of Defense prepared a patriotic program for county fairs, and speakers were furnished a score of these celebrations. To fill this demand and to enlarge the work, a patriotic speakers' bureau was formed and speakers of both local and statewide reputation enrolled to appear on call at any patriotic gathering of Missouri citizens.

Discouragement of disloyal activities has been another aim of the Missouri Council of Defense, effectually carried out by the branch councils of defense displaying tact and firmness. The introduction of economies in shipping, marketing and delivering and the elimination of unfair prices also have been specific aims of the Missouri Council of Defense. Additional activities are suggested by its committees.

TITLE AND TERM OF THE PRESIDENT.

The address of the President is simply "The President of the United States." In the First Congress there was debate over a title and it was proposed by some members that he be addressed as "His Excellency" and by others as "His Highness," but a committee reported that "it is not proper to annex any style or title other than that expressed in the Constitution." In the Constitutional Convention the first report fixed the term of office at seven years without eligibility to re-election. In debate various periods from "during good behavior" to twenty years were favored. The limit to four years was finally adopted in grand committee and ratified by the convention.

THE PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION.

The presidential succession is fixed by chapter 4 of the acts of the Forty-ninth Congress, first session. In case of the removal, death, resignation, or inability of both the President and Vice-President, then the Secretary of State shall act as President until the disability of the President or Vice-President is removed or a President is elected. If there be no Secretary of State, then the Secretary of the Treasury will act; and the remainder of the order of succession is as follows: The Secretary of War, Attorney-General, Postmaster-General, Secretary of the Navy, and Secretary of the Interior. The acting President must, upon taking office, convene Congress, if not at the time in session, in extraordinary session, giving twenty days' notice. This act applies only to such Cabinet officers as shall have been confirmed by the Senate and are eligible under the Constitution to the presidency.

THE PRESIDENTAL ELECTION OF 1920.

The next presidential election will take place on Tuesday, November 2, 1920.

The President and Vice-President of the United States are chosen by officials termed "Electors" in each state, who are, under existing state laws, chosen by the qualified voters thereof by ballot, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November in every fourth year preceding the year in which the presidential term expires.

The Constitution of the United States prescribes that each state shall "appoint," in such manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the state may be entitled in Congress; but no Senator or Representative or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States shall be an elector. The Constitution requires that the day when electors are chosen shall be the same throughout the United States. At the beginning of our Government most of the electors were chosen by the Legislatures of their respective states, the people having no direct participation in their choice; and one state, South Carolina, continued that practice down to the breaking out of the Civil war. But in all the states now the electors are, under the direction of state laws, chosen by the people on a general state ticket.

The manner in which the chosen electors meet and ballot for a President and Vice-President of the United States is provided for in article XII of the Constitution, and is as follows:

The electors shall meet in their respective states and vote by ballot for President and Vice-President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice-President; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice-President, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit, sealed, to the seat of government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate.

The same article then prescribes the mode in which the Congress shall count the ballots of the electors, and announce the result thereof, which is as follows:

The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted; the person having the greatest number of votes for President shall be President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the President. But in choosing the President the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President, whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice-President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President. The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice-President shall be the Vice-President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list the Senate shall choose the Vice-President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice.

The procedure of the two houses, in case the returns of the election of electors from any state are disputed, is provided in the "Electoral Count" act, passed by the Forty-ninth Congress. The act directs that the presidential electors shall meet and give their votes on the second Monday in January next following their election. It fixes the time when Congress shall be in session to count the ballots as the second Wednesday in February succeeding the meeting of the electors.

The Constitution also defines who is eligible for President of the United States, as follows:

No person except a natural-born citizen or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this Constitution shall be eligible to the office of President; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years.

The qualifications for Vice-President are the same.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The Democratic national convention was held at St. Louis, Mo., June 14-16. President Wilson and Vice-President Marshall were renominated by acclamation, June 15.

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL PLATFORM.

(Adopted at St. Louis, Mo., June 16, 1916.)

Preamble.—The Democratic party, in national convention assembled, adopts the following declaration to the end that the people of the United States may both realize the achievments wrought by four years of Democratic administration and be apprised of the policies to which the party is committed for the further conduct of national affairs.

Record of Achievement.—We indorse the administration of Woodrow Wilson. It speaks for itself. It is the best exposition of sound Democratic policy at home and abroad.

We challenge comparison of our record, our keeping of pledges and our constructive legislation with those of any party of any time.

We found our country hampered by special privilege, a vicious tariff, obsolete banking laws and an inelastic currency. Our foreign affairs were dominated by commercial interests for their selfish ends. The Republican party, despite repeated pledges, was impotent to correct abuses which it had fostered. Under our administration, under a leadership which has never faltered, these abuses have been corrected, and our people have been freed therefrom.

Our archaic banking and currency system, prolific of panic and disaster under Republican administrations—long the refuge of the money trust—has been supplanted by the federal reserve act, a true democracy of credit under government control, already proved a financial bulwark in a world crisis, mobilizing our resources, placing abundant credit at the disposal of legitimate industry, and making a currency panic impossible. We have created a federal trade commission to accommodate the perplexing questions arising under the anti-trust laws, so that monopoly may be strangled at its birth and legitimate industry encouraged. Fair competition in business is now assured.

We have effected an adjustment of the tariff, adequate for revenue under peace conditions, and fair to the consumer and to the producer. We have adjusted the burdens of taxation so that swollen incomes bear their equitable shares. Our revenues have been sufficient in times of world stress, and will largely exceed the expenditures for the current fiscal year.

We have lifted human labor from the category of commodities, and have secured to the working man the right of voluntary association for his protection and welfare; we have protected the rights of the laborer against the unwarranted issuance of writs of injunction, and have guaranteed to him the right of trial by jury in case of alleged contempt committed outside the presence of the court.

We have advanced the parcel post to genuine efficiency, enlarged the postal savings system, added 10,000 rural delivery routes and extensions, thus reaching 2,500,000 additional people, improved the postal service in every branch, and for the first time in our history placed the postoffice system on a self-supporting basis, with actual surplus in 1913, 1914 and 1916.

Economic Freedom.—The reforms which were most obviously needed to clear away privilege, prevent unfair discrimination, and release the energies of men of all ranks and advantages, have been effected by recent legislation. We must now remove, so far as possible, every remaining element of unrest and uncertainty from the path of business men of America and secure for them a continued period of quiet, assured and confident prosperity.

Tariff.—We reaffirm our belief in the doctrine of a tariff for the purpose of providing sufficient revenue for the operation of the government economically administered, and unreservedly indorse the Underwood tariff law as truly exemplifying that doctrine. We recognize that tariff rates are necessarily subject to change to meet changing conditions in the world's production and trade. The events of the last two years have brought about many momentous changes. In some respects their effects are yet conjectural and wait to be disclosed, particularly in regard to our foreign trade.

Two years of a war which has directly involved most of the chief industrial nations of the world, and which has indirectly affected the life and industry of all nations, are bringing about economic changes more varied and far reaching than the world has ever before experienced. In order to ascertain just what those changes may be, the Democratic Congress is providing for a non-partisan tariff commission to make impartial and thorough study of every economic fact that may throw light either upon our past or upon our future fiscal policy with regard to the imposition of taxes on imports or with regard to the changed and changing conditions under which our trade is carried on. We cordially indorse this timely proposal and declare ourselves in sympathy with the principle and purpose of shaping legislation within that field in accordance with clearly established facts rather than in accordance with the demands of selfish interests or upon information provided largely, if not exclusively by them.

Americanism.—The part the United States will play in the new day of international relationships which is now upon us will depend upon our preparation and our character. The Democratic party therefore recognizes the assertion and triumphant demonstration of the inadvisability and coherent strength of the nation as the supreme issue of this day, in which the whole world faces the crisis of manifold change. It summons all men, of whatever origin or creed, who would count themselves Americans, to join in making clear to all the world the unity and consequent power of America.

This is an issue of patriotism. To taint it with partisanship would be to defile it. In this day of test America must show itself not a nation of partisans, but a nation of patriots. There is gathered here in America the best of the blood, the industry and the genius of the whole world, the elements of a great race, and a magnificent society to be melted into a mighty and splendid nation.

Whoever, actuated by the purpose to promote the interest of a foreign power in disregard of our own country's welfare or to injure this government in its foreign relations or cripple or destroy its industries at home, and whoever, by arousing prejudices of a racial, religious or other nature, creates discord and strife among our people so as to obstruct the wholesome process of unification, is faithless to the trust which the privileges of citizenship repose in him and disloyal to his country.

We, therefore, condemn as subversive of this nation's unity and integrity, and as destructive of its welfare, the activities and designs of every group or organization, political or otherwise, that has for its object the advancement of the interest of a foreign power, whether such object is promoted by intimidating the government, a political party, or representatives of the people, or which is calculated and tends to divide our people into antagonistic groups, and thus to destroy that complete agreement and solidarity of the people, and that unity of sentiment and national purpose so essential to the perpetuity of the nation and its free institution.

We condemn all alliances and combinations of individuals in this country, of whatever nationality or descent, who agree and conspire together for the purpose of embarrassing or weakening our government or of improperly influencing or coercing our public representatives, in dealing or negotiating with any foreign power.

We charge that such conspiracies among a limited number exist, and have been instigated for the purpose of advancing the interests of foreign countries to the prejudice and detriment of our own country. We condemn any political party which, in view of the activity of such conspirators, surrenders its integrity or modifies its policy.

Preparedness.—Along with the proof of our character as a nation must go the proof of our power to play the part that legitimately belongs to us. The people of the United States love peace. They respect the rights and covet the friendship of all other nations. They desire neither any additional territory nor any advantage which cannot be peacefully gained by their skill, their industry or their enterprise; but they insist upon having absolute freedom of national life and policy, and feel that they owe it to themselves, and to the role of spirited independence which it is their sole ambition to play, that they should render themselves secure against the hazard of interference from any quarter, and should be able to protect their rights upon the seas or in any part of the world.

We therefore favor the maintenance of an army fully adequate to the requirements of order, of safety and of the protection of the nation's rights, the fullest development of modern methods of seacoast defense, and the maintenance of an adequate reserve of citizens trained to arms and prepared to safeguard the people and territory of the United States against any danger of hostile action which may unexpectedly arise, and a fixed policy for the continuous development of a navy worthy to support the great naval traditions of the United States, and fully equal to the international tasks which the United States hopes and expects to take a part in performing. The plans and enactments of the present Congress afford substantial proof of our purpose in this exigent matter.

International Relations.—The Democratic administration has throughout the present war scrupulously and successfully held to the old paths of neutrality and of the peaceful pursuit of the legitimate objects of our national life, which statesmen of all parties and creeds have prescribed for themselves in America since the beginning of our history. But the circumstances of the last two years have revealed necessities of international action which no former generation can have foreseen.

We hold that it is the duty of the United States to use its power not only to make itself safe at home but also to make secure its just interests throughout the world, and both for this end and in the interest of humanity to assist the world in securing settled peace and justice.

We believe that every people has the right to choose the sovereignty under which it shall live; that the small states of the world have a right to enjoy from other nations the same respect for their sovereignty and for their territorial integrity that great and powerful nations expect and insist upon, and that the world has a right to be free from every disturbance of its peace that has its origin in aggression or disregard of the rights of peoples and nations, and we believe that the time has come when it is the duty of the United States to join with the other nations of the world in any feasible association that will effectively serve these principles, to maintain inviolate the complete security of the highway of the seas for the common and unhindered use of all nations.

The present administration has consistently sought to act upon and realize in its conduct of the foreign affairs of the nation the principle that should be the object of any association of the nations formed to secure the peace of the world and the maintenance of national and individual right. It has followed the highest American traditions.

It has preferred respect for the fundamental rights of smaller states, even to property interests, and has secured the friendship of the people of these states for the United States by refusing to make a more material interest an excuse for the assertion of our superior power against the dignity of their sovereign independence.

It has regarded the lives of its citizens and the claims of humanity as of greater moment than material rights, and peace as the best basis for the just settlement of commercial claims.

It has made the honor and ideals of the United States its standard alike in negotiation and action.

Pan-American Concord.—We recognize now, as we have always recognized, a definite and common interest between the United States with the other peoples and republics of the Western Hemisphere in all matters of national independence and free political development. We favor the establishment and maintenance of the closest relations of amity and mutual helpfulness between the United States and the other republics of the American continents for the support of peace and the promotion of a common prosperity. To that end we favor all measures which may be necessary to facilitate intimate intercourse and promote commerce between the United States and her neighbors to the south of us, and such international understandings as may be practicable and suitable to accomplish these ends.

We commend the action of the Democratic administration in holding the Pan-American Financial Conference at Washington in May, 1915, and organizing the International High Commission, which represented the United States in the recent meeting of representatives of the Latin-American republics at Buenos Ayres, April, 1916, which have so greatly promoted the friendly relations between the people of the Western Hemisphere.

Mexico.—The Monroe Doctrine is reasserted as a principle of Democratic faith. That doctrine guarantees the independent republics of the two Americas against aggression from another continent. It implies as well the most scrupulous regard upon our part for the sovereignty of each of them.

The want of a stable, responsible government in Mexico, capable of repressing and punishing marauders and bandit bands, who have not only taken the lives and seized and destroyed the property of American citizens in that country, but have insolently invaded our soil, made war upon and murdered our people thereon, has rendered it necessary temporarily to occupy, by our armed forces, a portion of the territory of that friendly state, where until by the restoration of law and order therein, a repetition of such incursions is improbable, the necessity for their remaining will continue.

Intervention, implying as it does military subjugation, is revolting to the people of the United States, notwithstanding the provocation to that course has been great, and should be resorted to, if at all, only as a last resort. The stubborn resistance of the President and his advisers to every demand and suggestion to enter upon it, is creditable alike to them and to the people in whose name he speaks.

Merchant Marine.—Immediate provision should be made for the development of the carrying trade of the United States. Our foreign commerce has in the past been subject to many unnecessary and vexatious obstacles in the way of legislation of Republican Congresses. Until the recent Democratic tariff legislation it was hampered by unreasonable burdens of taxation. Until the recent banking legislation it had at its disposal few of the necessary instrumentalities of international credit and exchange. Until the formulation of the pending act to promote the construction of a merchant marine it lacked even the prospect of adequate carriage by sea.

We heartily indorse the purposes and policy of the pending Shipping Bill and favor all such additional measures of constructive or remedial legislation as may be necessary to restore our flag to the seas and to provide further facilities for our foreign commerce, particularly such laws as may be made to remove unfair conditions of competition in the dealings of American merchants and producers with competitors in foreign markets.

Conservation.—For the safeguarding and quickening of the life of our own people, we favor the conservation and development of the natural resources of the country by means of a policy which shall be positive rather than negative, a policy which shall not withhold such resources from development, but which, while permitting and encouraging their use, shall prevent both waste and monopoly in their exploitation, and we earnestly favor the passage of acts which will accomplish these objects, and we reaffirm the declaration of the platform of 1912 on this subject. The policy of reclaiming our arid lands should be steadily adhered to.

The Administration and the Farmer.—We favor the vigorous prosecution of investigation and plans to render agriculture more profitable and country life more healthful, comfortable and attractive, and we believe that this should be a dominant aim of the nation as well as of the states. With all its recent improvement, farming still lags behind other occupations in development as a business, and the advantages of an advancing civilization have not accrued to rural communities in a fair proportion.

Much has been accomplished in this field under the present administration—far more than under any previous administration. In the Federal Reserve Act of the last Congress and the Rural Credits Act of the present Congress, the machinery has been created which will make credit available to the farmer constantly and readily, and he has at last been put upon a footing of equality with the merchant and the manufacturer in securing the capital necessary to carry on his enterprises. Grades and standards necessary to the intelligent and successful conduct of the business of agriculture have also been established, or are in the course of establishment by law.

The long needed cotton futures act, passed by the Sixty-third Congress, has now been in successful operation for nearly two years. A Grain Grades Bill, long needed, and a Permissive Warehouse Bill, intended to provide better storage facilities and to enable the farmer to obtain certificates upon which he may secure advances of money, have been passed by the House of Representatives, have been favorably reported to the Senate and will probably become a law during the present session of Congress. Both houses have passed a good roads measure, which will be of far reaching benefit to all agricultural communities.

Above all, the most extraordinary and significant progress has been made, under the direction of the Department of Agriculture, in extending and perfecting practical farm demonstration work, which is so rapidly substituting scientific for empirical farming. But it is also necessary that rural activities should be better directed through co-operation and organization, that unfair methods of competition should be eliminated, and the conditions requisite for the just, orderly and economical marketing of farm products created. We approve the Democratic administration for having emphatically directed attention for the first time to the essential interests of agriculture involved in farm marketing and finance, for creating the office of markets and rural organization in connection with the Department of Agriculture, and for extending the co-operative machinery necessary for conveying information to farmers by means of demonstrations. We favor continued liberal provision not only for the benefit of production, but also for the study and solutions of problems of farm marketing and finance, and for the extension of existing agencies for improving country life.

Good Roads.—The happiness, comfort and prosperity of rural life and the development of the city are alike conserved by the construction of public highways. We therefore favor national aid in the construction of post roads and roads for military purposes.

Government Employment.—We hold that the life, health and strength of the men, women and children of the nation are its greatest asset and that in the conservation of these the Federal Government, wherever it acts as the employer of labor, should both on its own account and as an example, put into effect the following principles of just employment:

(1) A living wage for all employes.
(2) A working day not to exceed eight hours, with one day of rest in seven.
(3) The adoption of safety appliances and the establishment of thoroughly sanitary conditions of labor.
(4) Adequate compensation for industrial accidents.
(5) The standards of the uniform child labor law wherever minors are employed.
(6) Such provisions for decency, comfort and health in the employment of women as should be accorded the mothers of the race.
(7) An equitable retirement law providing for the retirement of superannuated and disabled employes of the civil service, to the end that a higher standard of efficiency may be maintained.

We believe also that the adoption of similar principles should be urged and applied in the legislation of the states with regard to labor within their borders, and that through every possible agency the life and health of the people of the nation should be conserved.

Labor.—We declare our faith in the seamen's act, passed by the Democratic Congress, and we promise our earnest continuance of its enforcement.

We favor the speedy enactment of an effective federal child labor law and the regulation of the shipment of prison-made goods in interstate commerce.

We favor the creation of a federal bureau of safety in the Department of Labor, to gather facts concerning industrial hazards and to commend legislation concerning the maiming and killing of human beings.

We favor the extension of the powers and functions of the Federal Bureau of Mines.

We favor the development upon a systematic scale of the means already begun under the present administration, to assist laborers throughout the nation to seek and obtain employment, and the extension by the Federal Government of the same assistance and encouragement as is now given to agricultural training.

We heartily recommend our newly established Department of Labor for its excellent record in settling industrial strikes by personal advices and through conciliating agents.

Public Health.—We favor a thorough consideration of the means and methods by which the Federal Government handles questions of public health, to the end that human life may be conserved by the elimination of loathsome disease, the improvement of sanitation and the diffusion of a knowledge of disease prevention.

We favor the establishment by the Federal Government of tuberculosis sanitariums for needy tubercular patients.

Senate Rules.—We favor such an alteration of the rules of procedure of the Senate of the United States as will permit the prompt transaction of the nation's legislative business.

Economy and the Budget.—We demand careful economy in all expenditures for the support of the government, and to that end favor a return by the House of Representatives to its former practice of initiating and preparing all appropriation bills through a single committee chosen from its membership, in order that responsibility may be centered, expenditure standardized and made uniform, and waste and duplication in the public service as much as possible avoided. We favor this as a practicable first step toward a budget system

Civil Service.—We reaffirm our declaration for the rigid enforcement of the civil service laws.

Philippine Islands.—We heartily indorse the provisions of the bill recently passed by the House of Representatives further promoting self-government in the Philippine Islands, as being in fulfillment of the policy declared by the Democratic party in its last national platform, and we reiterate our endorsement of the purpose of ultimate independence for the Philippine Islands expressed in the preamble of that measure.

Woman Suffrage.—We recommend the extension of the franchise to the women of the country by the states upon the same terms as to men.

Protection of Citizens.—We again declare the policy that the sacred right of American citizenship must be preserved at home and abroad, and that no treaty with any other government shall receive the sanction of our government which does not expressly recognize the absolute equality of all our citizens, irrespective of race, creed or previous nationality, and which does not recognize the right of expatriation. The American government should protect American citizens in their right not only at home but abroad, and any country having a government should be held to strict accountability for any wrongs done them, either to person or property.

At the earliest practical opportunity, our country should strive earnestly for peace among the warring nations of Europe and seek to bring about the adoption of the fundamental principle of justice and humanity, that all men shall enjoy equality of right and freedom from discrimination in the lands wherein they dwell.

Prison Reform.—We demand that the modern principles of prison reform be applied in our federal penal system. We favor such work for prisoners as shall give them training in remunerative occupations, so that they may make an honest living when released from prison; the setting apart of the net wages of the prisoner to be paid to his dependent family or to be reserved for his own use upon his release; the liberal extension of the principles of the Federal Parole Law, with due regard both to the welfare of the prisoner and the interests of society; the adoption of the probation system, especially in the case of first offenders not convicted of serious crimes.

Pensions.—We renew the declarations of recent Democratic platforms relating to generous pensions for soldiers and their widows, and call attention to our record of performance in this particular.

Waterway and Flood Control.—We renew the declaration in our last two platforms relating to the development of our waterways. The recent devastation of the Lower Mississippi Valley and several other sections by floods accentuates the movement for the regulation of river flow by additional bank and levee protection below, and diversion storage and control of the flood waters above, and their utilization for beneficial purposes in the reclamation of arid and swamp lands, and development of water power, instead of permitting the floods to continue, as heretofore, agents of destruction.

We hold that the control of the Mississippi river is a national problem. The preservation of the depth of its waters for purposes of navigation, the building of levees and works of bank protection to maintain the integrity of its channel and prevent the overflow of its valley, resulting in the interruption of interstate commerce, the disorganization of the mail service and the enormous loss of life and property, impose an obligation which alone can be discharged by the National Government.

We favor the adoption of a liberal and comprehensive plan for the development and improvement of our harbors and inland waterways with economy and efficiency, so as to permit their navigation by vessels of standard draught.

Alaska.—It has been and will be the policy of the Democratic party to enact all laws necessary for the speedy development of Alaska and its great natural resources.

Territories.—We favor granting to the people of Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico the traditional territorial government accorded to all territories of the United States since the beginning of our government, and we believe the officials appointed to administer the government of those several territories should be qualified by previous bona fide residence.

Candidates.—We unreservedly indorse our President and Vice-President, Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, and Thomas Riley Marshall of Indiana, who have performed the functions of their great offices faithfully and impartially and with distinguished ability.

In particular we commend to the American people the splendid diplomatic victories of our great President, who has preserved the vital interests of our government and its citizens and kept us out of war.

Woodrow Wilson stands today the greatest American of his generation.

Conclusion.—This is a critical hour in the history of America, a critical hour in the history of the world. Upon the record above set forth, which shows great constructive achievement in following out a consistent policy for our domestic and internal development; upon the record of the Democratic administration, which maintained the honor, the dignity and the interests of the United States and at the same time retained the respect and friendship of all the nations of the world, and upon the great policies for the future strengthening of the life of our country, the enlargement of our national vision and the ennobling of our international relations, as set forth above, we appeal with confidence to the voters of the country.

DEMOCRATIC SUBNATIONAL STATE CONVENTION, 1916.

The Democratic subnational convention for Missouri met at St. Joseph, March 22, 1916, and adopted the following resolutions:

DEMOCRATIC SUBNATIONAL PLATFORM, 1916.

We, the Democracy of Missouri, in convention assembled, heartily indorse the policies of the Democratic national administration and give our unqualified approval of the masterly conduct of our national and international affairs under President Woodrow Wilson.

We voice the unanimous demand of the Democracy of this state for the renomination of President Woodrow Wilson by the Democratic National Convention in St. Louis and instruct the delegates chosen by this convention to vote for his nomination, and we confidently predict his re-election by an overwhelming majority of the American electorate.

International Policies Applauded.—In the field of international matters we specifically approve and applaud the following achievements of our President:

His success in guarding the honor and just interests of America before the world in face of seemingly insuperable obstacles, at the same time keeping his country out of the European war and thus insuring the prosperity and security of the people of the United States at a time when the people of virtually all the other great nations of the world are suffering the devastation wrought by the most destructive conflict of all times.

His forceful and effective championship against all belligerents of the lawful rights of Americans and all neutrals on the high seas whereby, although uncertainties still cloud the outcome, it seems assured that he has won a victory which will be a lasting glory to our country and of priceless importance to both the present and future of our commerce.

His refusal to allow our country to be drawn by selfish interests or the lust of conquest into the international strife in Mexico, his zeal to protect the independence and fundamental rights of the citizens of that unhappy Republic and his prompt, vigorous action when the massacre at Columbus, N. M., shocked our land, to secure the apprehension and punishment of the perpetrators of the dastardly crime.

His maintenance of the Monroe Doctrine and consistent policy of fair dealing with all our sister republics of the Western Hemisphere, thus substituting a feeling of trust and confidence in the United States among the Pan-American countries for the feeling of distrust and doubt of American motives that formerly prevailed and which has fructified in agreements assuring lasting friendships and a rapid expansion of our trade in Central and South America.

We stand solidly behind the President's patriotic course in placing America first with reference to all questions, both domestic and international, which have grown out of the world war, and with him we place citizenship above partisanship in every matter involving either the duty of Americans at home or the honor, security or just interests of America abroad.

Domestic Achievements Reviewed.—As to domestic questions, we specifically point out and indorse the following splendid achievements of the President, which have been helpful to all our industries and have aided in bringing about a prevailing era of almost unexampled prosperity.

His practical and efficient action which, though dedicating America to the cause of peace and pledging Americans never to undertake another war of aggression, now assures immediate expansion of the army and navy to provide adequate means of military defense against aggression.

His emancipation of the commercial and industrial interests of our country from selfish domination by securing the enactment of the federal reserve act under which the country is forever freed from the dangers of financial panics and a democracy of credit is permanently established.

His fearless enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law, thus breaking up the oppressive trusts that were born under Republican rule, and his success in obtaining the enactment of supplementary anti-trust laws for the complete eradication of harmful monopoly and the restoration of competition as promised by the platform pledges of the Democratic party.

His firm and uncompromising opposition to privilege and favoritism in our tariff system which led to the substitution of the Underwood tariff act for the unjust and burdensome Payne-Aldrich act, and which caused the enactment of the income tax law which shifts the burden of taxation from those least able to bear it to those best able to pay.

His fearless exposure and consequent elimination of "invisible government" at Washington, which, with insidious methods, exercised a baneful and controlling influence on legislation for many years.

His prompt action in meeting all just demands of labor, so long ignored by the Republican party; and by legal enactment forever establishing the principle that human labor is not a commodity.

His unrelenting opposition to the inordinate greed of special interests and his course in responding at all times to the demands of the people for legislation.

Congressional Program Approved.—We indorse and urge prompt enactment of the President's recommendation to Congress incorporated in the pending legislative program, conceived with the same patriotic purpose that has characterized all his policies and public acts. We particularly indorse and recommend early passage of the following measures:

The ship purchase bill, which offers the only practical plan for creating quickly an American merchant marine for the carriage of the products of American farms and American industries to the waiting markets of the world.

The tariff commission bill, to provide the means of protecting American manufacturers against any emergency which may follow the close of the European war.

The rural credits bill, which will enlarge the market for the sound securities of the farms of our country and enable farmers to obtain credit on fair and reasonable terms.

A Philippine independence bill, which accords with American ideals of government and pledges ultimate freedom to our wards, the Filipinos.

The corrupt practices bill, furnishing real guarantees against the corrupt use of money in federal elections.

The measures to improve the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, including a comprehensive program for preventing the disastrous floods which have so often caused appalling loss of life and property in the Missouri and Mississippi valleys.

Many Pledges for the Future.—The Democratic party has earned the continued confidence of the American people because it has made good its pledges given them. It awaits a further opportunity to serve them and gives assurances that if the affairs of the government are continued in its charge that it will favor:

Full and adequate preparation for national defense.

The maintenance without abatement or compromise of the rights of American citizens under international law.

The establishment of the closest relations of amity and mutual helpfulness between the United States and other republics of the Western Hemisphere, for the maintenance of peace and the promotion of the prosperity of the two continents.

All such measures of constructive or remedial legislation as may be necessary and adequate for the creation of better conditions or better facilities, for the promotion of business enterprise, for the removal of unfair conditions of competition, either in the United States or in the dealings of Americans with foreign competitors, and for the increase of scientific efficiency in industrial and commercial undertakings.

The scrupulous conservation of the national resources of the United States by provisions of law which do not prevent their use, but which do prevent their waste or monopolization.

Systematic and organized federal action in assisting to find employment for the unemployed.

The most rigid economy in all expenditures for the support of the government consistent with wise and efficient administration, and to that end we favor a return of the House of Representatives to its former practice of initiation and preparation of all appropriation bills by one committee chosen from its membership, in order that responsibility may be fixed, standardization and uniformity of expenditure established, and waste and duplication in the public service avoided.

We earnestly endorse our eminent Senators, William J. Stone and James A. Reed, for their loyal and invaluable assistance in the Senate, as well as Missouri's great Speaker, Champ Clark, and his distinguished Missouri Democratic colleagues in the House of Representatives in their support of the President.

NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC LEAGUE OF CLUBS.

President, Frank S. Clark, Indianapolis, Ind.; secretary, William C. Liller, Indianapolis, Ind.; treasurer, O. Arthur Haulenbeck, Jr., Portland, Ore.

The National Democratic League of Clubs is engaging actively in the work of adding to the Democratic vote in the nation. Its labors are purely a party work, aiming simply at the increase of Democratic strength. The league exists as a vote-getting auxiliary of the regular Democratic organizations, and its success depends upon the hearty co-operation of Democrats throughout the country. It is the aim and endeavor of the National Democratic League of Clubs to aid in the work of organization and to help the regular organizations to achieve greater success.

The league is a union or federation of Democratic clubs and associations in all parts of the country. It is now in its seventh year. At the biannual meeting held in Washington, D. C., December 3-4, 1912, thirty-three states of the Union were represented. Its management is intrusted to a board of directors composed of some of the foremost men in the party, who take an active interest in its success.

The National Democratic League of Clubs is not organized for the purpose of either advocating or opposing any Democrat before he shall have been chosen by the constituted bodies or of furthering the interests of any man or set of men, before being indorsed by the party, but for the attainment and preservation of unity, the upbuilding of the party, and the promotion of its principles and welfare. Nor is it intended that any club or the league of clubs shall usurp the functions of the several state, county or district committees, but rather work in harmony and in co-operation with them.

The National Democratic League of Clubs aims:

To make loyal Democrats of young men who are about to cast their first votes.

To explain clearly to the foreign-born voters the practical helpfulness and patriotic purposes of the Democratic party, and to enlist the new-made citizen in its ranks, thus making them good Democrats and therefore better Americans.

To confirm in the wavering an inclination toward Democracy and to make a habit of party fealty.

To preach early and late, day in and day out, the politics of Jefferson and Jackson.

To enlist voters, regardless of previous party affiliations, in the cause of Democracy, by every honorable means.

State Leagues or Federations of Democratic clubs, co-operating with the National League, have been organized in forty of the states and have a membership in excess of 875,000. Affiliated clubs have been organized in every state.

The league has headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind., and at Washington, D. C.

DEMOCRATIC STATE PLATFORM.

(Adopted August 22, 1916.)

The Democratic party in Missouri, in convention assembled, congratulates the state and nation that at this tragic period of the world's history we have at the head of the government a President who has met all international complications in a spirit of dignity, firmness and fairness, which has compelled the recognition of our rights as a great neutral power, and at the same time retained the respect and friendship of all the world.

The nation's honor and the nation's peace have been preserved by Woodrow Wilson.

We reaffirm our allegiance to the principles of democracy and ratify and affirm the platform of our national convention.

We challenge attention to the great record of the Democratic Congress.

Corporation Lobby Destroyed.—It exposed the organized lobby, which had for years infested the nation's capital. That lobby was headed by the hired agents of an organization misnamed "The National Manufacturers Association." It had for years been instrumental in preventing all legislation calculated to ameliorate the conditions of labor. It habitually sent its hired employes into various congressional districts to defeat congressmen who had sought to pass remedial legislation. It regularly spent vast sums of money in endeavoring to promote the political interests of its servants in Congress. It spied upon committees and corrupted subordinate governmental employes. The Democratic party drove it from the capital and compelled its dissolution.

Democracy Helps the Farmer.—The Democratic party, always mindful of the welfare of the farmer, and recognizing that he has been the victim of unjust interest exactions by farm loan companies, has, by enlarging the powers of national banks, created an immediate competitive market for farm mortgages and cattle paper.

It is now organizing a great system of land banks which will enable farmers to procure long-time loans at from four to four and one-half per cent interest, without the payment of commission charges, and which makes the borrower a participant in the profits of the land bank, through which he negotiates his loans; this national system will co-operate with the state rural credit system in the same manner as state banks do with national banks.

It placed agricultural implements and many other articles, especially used by farmers, upon the free list.

It increased the appropriation for the agricultural departments by fifty per cent, and has extended the powers of the great department so as to work incalculable advantages to the agricultural class.

It appropriated $1,500,000.00 to promptly exterminate the foot-and-mouth disease.

It created a division of markets and rural organizations to study and disseminate information of special value to the farmers.

It created a live stock market and a live stock news service.

It passed the grain standard act, which insures uniformity in grain grades.

It passed the warehouse bill, which facilitates the storage of grain by the farmers, and the procurement of money on warehouse receipts.

It passed the agricultural extension act, which will place two expert farm demonstrators in each county of the United States and backed it by an appropriation of $8,600,000.00.

It took the initial step toward the promotion of a great system of national good roads by appropriating $80,000,000.00 to be expended in co-operation with the states, thus insuring the expenditure of $160,000,000.00, and the ultimate creation of a general good roads system, which will benefit every farmer in the United States.

The Republican party fastened upon the country an unsound banking and currency system, which concentrated the financial power in New York, and which has at frequently recurring intervals involved the country in panics.

The Democratic party abolished panics by establishing a sound currency and banking system; it transferred the seat of financial authority from Wall street to government control in Washington. This great system has withstood the strain of a world war, and has made possible that prosperity which the country now enjoys.

Democracy the Friend of Labor.—We call special attention to legislation for the relief of the wrongs suffered by labor. For over thirty years labor, without avail, knocked at the door of Republican Congresses, praying for relief against unjust laws and conditions. Their requests were not only disregarded, but often contemptuously rejected.

The Democratic party abolished government by injunction.

It exempted labor and farm organizations from the terms of the Sherman anti-trust act and gave them statutory recognition.

It guaranteed trial by jury and the right to bail and appeal in contempt cases.

By the passage of the seaman's law it abolished involuntary servitude in the merchant marine.

It created a Board of Railway Mediation and Arbitration, which has settled every railroad dispute up to the present time.

It enacted an eight-hour law for the protection of women and child workers of the District of Columbia.

It extended the eight-hour law to cover employes in the Alaska coal fields and those engaged in the construction of the Alaska railroad.

It provided for industrial education.

It abolished the Taylor stop-watch speeding-up methods the Republicans had established in the United States navy yards and gun factories.

It provided for the construction of battleships in government navy yards.

It investigated and exposed the intolerable labor conditions of West Virginia and Michigan mines.

It enacted the compensation law for postoffice employes injured in the service.

It has just passed the workingmen's compensation law, applicable to all government employes.

It established a Children's Bureau to study the condition of child life and the origin and prevention of child diseases.

It prohibited the shipment of factory products of child labor in interstate commerce.

It abolished many other abuses against which labor justly complained.

Our United States Senators.—Missouri has always occupied a proud and foremost position in the Senate of the United States. In the early days of the republic, Benton was admittedly the peer of Clay, Calhoun and Webster, and later name Blair, Schurz, Vest and Cockrell. Our present Senators, William J. Stone and James A. Reed, measure fully to the high stature of their predecessors.

As chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, Senator Stone has been the adviser and the support of the President, and second only to him as a force for the preservation of the dignity and peace of the nation.

In his one term of service, Senator James A. Reed has placed himself in the front rank of the Senate. In the framing of the federal banking bill his work was that of a constructive statesman, and many of the most salutary provisions of that law are due to his foresight and wisdom. The committee, of which he was the leading spirit, exposed and drove from Washington the corrupt lobby. His work in both these great matters was such as to bring from President Wilson words of praise and thanks. In the halls of the Senate the voice of Senator Reed is always raised in behalf of the principles of Democracy. He is recognized as the ablest debater in the great forum of the Senate. His return to the Senate is a national need.

Missouri Congressmen.—The Missouri Congressional delegation is one of the ablest at Washington. In all important legislation it has taken a leading part. The splendid personnel of our nominees is a guaranty that the state will continue to be represented by true and faithful exponents of the rights of the people.

Missouri is proud of Speaker Champ Clark. The foremost contender for the presidential nomination in 1912, he accepted his defeat with grace and courage, and since has given to President Wilson a support so sincere and strong as to win the love and admiration of the whole American people.

Democratic State Ticket.—The Democratic party presents to the state a ticket composed of men of the highest character, experienced in important affairs and of proven integrity. At its head is Hon. Frederick D. Gardner, who has already demonstrated his keen interest in the farming and industrial classes, and his ability as a constructive statesman, by originating and forcefully advocating a system of rural credits for our state that will result in lessening the interest burden to farmers, and which can be administered in co-operation with the National Rural Credit System now being established.

We heartily recommend the adoption of the proposed Constitutional amendment No. 2, known as the Missouri State Land Bank Amendment.

Missouri Democratic Legislature.—We heartily commend the work of the Democratic General Assemblies of the state in the enactment of laws for the better government of the state and the protection of the rights and liberties of its citizens, and call attention to the fact that no state has enacted more constructive legislation of direct benefit to the people than has been enacted by Missouri Democratic Legislatures.

Among these measures, compelling both public attention and endorsement, are the enactment of antitrust laws (the first enacted in this nation); laws encouraging the agricultural, dairy and mining industries; adequate labor and strict usury laws; adherence to the doctrine and principles of local self-government; the generous support of our public school system and the preservation and protection of the sacred public school fund; the consistent and liberal support of our great University; our splendid system of normal schools, and the support of our eleemosynary and charitable institutions.

Among recent enactments are the creation of a Public Service Commission; the establishment of the State Highway Department; the policy of state aid for schools, and establishing and bringing the teachers' training courses within the reach of all; the law creating the Board of Pardons and Paroles; the absentee voters' law; the corporation supervision law, compelling honesty in the use of corporate charters; the blue sky law, protecting our citizens against unscrupulous foreign investment companies; the comprehensive revision of the state banking law in harmony with the federal reserve act; the law abolishing the system of private contract labor in the penitentiary and providing for the employment of convicts in state industries and on the public roads; the insurance rating and supervision law; the law articulating with the Smith-Lever act, enabling our agricultural interests to receive federal aid. Responding to the needs of the farm interests of this state, we have submitted a constitutional amendment providing for the establishment of a state land bank and rural credit system. And in general, with a uniform readiness has promptly enacted any and all safe and progressive legislation for the general good of the people and the welfare of the state.

Missouri State Administration.—Under a long line of Democratic Governors and state officials, Missouri has prospered and her laws have been enforced. We heartily approve and unreservedly endorse the wise, efficient and capable administration of Governor Elliott W. Major and our other state officials.

At no period in the history of the state have the interests of the people been more conscientiously and effectively safeguarded, and the benefits from this administration will grow and widen with the passing years.

We call particular attention to the fact that for the biennial period of 1915-1916 the money apportioned and devoted to the public school children of the state exceeds the amount apportioned to the school children during any other biennial period by $300,000.00 and exceeds the amount apportioned in the biennial period of 1907-1908, when the Republicans were in control of the finances of the state, by almost $1,000,000.00; and we endorse the action of our present Democratic state officials in having the question of the apportionment of school funds forever settled by a decision of the Supreme Court.

We congratulate the taxpayers of Missouri upon the fact that, during the past eight years, a majority of the State Board of Equalization has been sufficient to thwart the persistent efforts of the only Republican executive the state has had since the Civil war in attempting to treble the taxes of the people, and we declare ourselves in favor of a law compelling holders of hidden wealth to return same to the assessor for taxation purposes.

The Democratic party is proud of the fact that during the biennial period of 1915-16 under Democratic administration there has been paid from the state treasury, to the various counties of the state for good roads, almost a million dollars. This is startling and gratifying when we consider the fact that during the biennial period of 1907-1908, when Republicans were in charge, there was nothing paid to the benefit of good roads from the state treasury.

We declare our hearty interest in the development of country life. We favor the enactment of the laws to protect farmers and dealers against noxious and adulterated farm seeds. We also favor a revision of the dairy laws so that they will meet the needs of modern dairying in this state.

The party stands for adequate financial support of health boards and health officers of the state, counties and cities.

It stands for the maintenance of county tuberculosis hospitals and public tuberculosis nurse service, financially aided by state and nation.

The Democratic party pledges itself to make ample appropriation to care for the dependent ex-Confederate soldiers of Missouri

We pledge the people that the business of the state will be conducted in a business like manner and with strict economy. We will provide a method by which the General Assembly, upon convening, shall be furnished with an accurate estimate of the state revenues, together with a tabulation, showing all fixed charges and the amounts necessary to maintain the various state institutions and departments, and such other information as may be necessary to a full understanding of the condition of the state's finances

We further pledge the candidates of this convention that they will keep the appropriations of the state within its estimated revenues.

We pledge ourselves to the enactment of a just and adequate workmen's compensation law, fairly and efficiently administered.

We favor the submission by the next General Assembly to the voters of Missouri of the question of the need of a new State Constitution.

We reaffirm our devotion to the cause of public education and pledge our support to measures tending to its development so that the advantages of higher education shall be extended to all the youth of the state.

REPUBLICAN PARTY.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The Republican national convention met at Chicago, June 9, 1916. Charles E. Hughes and Charles W. Fairbanks were nominated, respectively, for President and Vice-President The third and final ballot for the presidential nomination was taken June 10.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL PLATFORM.

(Adopted at Chicago, Ill., June, 1916.)

Following is the platform adopted by the Republican national convention:

In 1861 the Republican party stood for the Union. As it stood for the union of the states, it now stands for a united people, true to American ideals, loyal to American traditions, knowing no allegiance except to the Constitution, to the government, and to the flag of the United States. We believe in American policies at home and abroad.

Protection of American Rights.—We declare that we believe in and will enforce the protection of every American citizen in all the rights secured to him by the Constitution, treatise, and the law of nations, at home and abroad, by land and sea. These rights, which, in violation of the specific promise of their party, made at Baltimore in 1912, the Democratic President and the Democratic Congress have failed to defend, we will unflinchingly maintain.

Foreign Relations.—We desire peace, the peace of justice and right, and believe in maintaining a straight and honest neutrality between the belligerents in the great war in Europe. We must perform all our duties and insist upon all our rights as neutrals, without fear and without favor. We believe that peace and neutrality, as well as the dignity and influence of the United States, cannot be preserved by shifty expedients, by phrasemaking, by performances in language, or by attitudes ever changing in an effort to secure gronps of voters.

The present administration has destroyed our influence abroad and humiliated us in our own eyes. The Republican party believes that a firm, consistent, and courageous foreign policy, always maintained by Republican Presidents in accordance with American traditions, is the best, as it is the only true way to preserve our peace and restore us to our rightful place among the nations. We believe in the pacific settlement of international disputes and favor the establishment of a world court for that purpose.

Mexico.—We deeply sympathize with the fifteen million people of Mexico, who, for three years, have seen their country devastated, their homes destroyed, their fellow-citizens murdered and their women outraged by armed bands of desperadoes led by self-seeking, conscienceless agitators, who, when temporarily successful in any locality, have neither sought nor been able to restore order or establish and maintain peace.

We express our horror and indignation at the outrages which have been and are being perpetrated by these bandits upon American men and women, who were or are in Mexico by invitation of the laws and of the government of that country, and whose rights to security of person and property are guaranteed by solemn treaty obligations. We denounce the indefensible methods of interference employed by this administration in the internal affairs of Mexico, and refer with shame to its failure to discharge the duty of this country as next friend to Mexico, its duty to other powers who have relied upon us as such friend, and its duty to our citizens in Mexico, in permitting the continuance of such conditions, first, by failure to act promptly and firmly, and, secondly, by lending its influence to the continuation of such conditions through recognition of one of the factions responsible for these outrages.

We pledge our aid in restoring order and maintaining peace in Mexico. We promise to our citizens on and near our border, and to those in Mexico, wherever they may be found, adequate and absolute protection in their lives, liberty, and property.

Monroe Doctrine.—We reaffirm our approval of the Monroe Doctrine, and declare its maintenance to be a policy of this country essential to its present and future peace and safety, and to the achievement of its manifest destiny.

Latin America.—We favor the continuation of Republican policies, which will result in drawing more and more closely the commercial, financial and social relations between this country and the countries of Latin America.

Philippines.—We renew our allegiance to the Philippine policy inaugurated by McKinley, approved by Congress, and consistently carried out by Roosevelt and Taft. Even in this short time it has enormously improved the material and social conditions of the islands, given the Philippine people a constantly increasing participation in their government, and, if persisted in, will bring still greater benefits in the future.

We accepted the responsibility of the islands as a duty to civilization and the Filipino people. To leave with our task half done would break our pledges, injure our prestige among nations, and imperil what already has been accomplished.

We condemn the Democratic administration for its attempt to abandon the Philippines, which was prevented only by the vigorous opposition of Republican members of Congress, aided by a few patriotic Democrats.

Right of Expatriation.—We reiterate the unqualified approval of the action taken in December, 1911, by the President and Congress to secure with Russia, as with other countries, a treaty that will recognize the absolute right of expatriation and prevent all discrimination of whatever kind between American citizens, whether native-born or alien, and regardless of race, religion, or previous political allegiance. We renew the pledge to observe this principle and to maintain the right of asylum, which is neither to be surrendered nor restricted, and we unite in the cherished hope that the war which is now desolating the world may speedily end, with a complete and lasting restoration of brotherhood among the nations of the earth and the assurance of full and equal rights, civil and religious, to all men in every land.

Protection of the Country.—In order to maintain our peace and make certain the security of our people within our own borders, the country must have not only adequate, but thorough and complete national defense, ready for any emergency. We must have a sufficient and effective regular army and a provision for ample reserves, already drilled and disciplined, who can be called at once to the colors when the hour of danger comes.

We must have a navy so strong and so well proportioned and equipped, so thoroughly ready and prepared, that no enemy can gain command of the sea and effect a landing in force on either our Western or our Eastern coast. To secure these results we must have a coherent and continuous policy of national defense, which even in these perilous days the Democratic party has utterly failed to develop, but which we promise to give to the country.

Tariff.—The Republican party stands now, as always, in the fullest sense for the policy of tariff protection to American industries and American labor, and does not regard an anti-dumping provision as an adequate substitute. Such protection should be reasonable in amount, but sufficient to protect adequately American industry and American labor, and be so adjusted as to prevent undue exactions by monopolies or trusts. It should, moreover, give special attention to securing the industrial independence of the United States, as in the case of dyestuffs.

Through wise tariff and industrial legislation our industries can be so organized that they will become not only a commercial bulwark but a powerful aid to national defense.

The Underwood tariff act is a complete failure in every respect. Under its administration, imports have enormously increased, in spite of the fact that the intercourse with foreign countries has been largely cut off by reason of the war, while the revenues, of which we stand in such dire need, have been greatly reduced. Under the normal conditions which prevailed prior to the war, it was clearly demonstrated that this act deprived the American producer and the American wage-earner of that protection which entitled them to meet their foreign competitors, and, but for the adventitious conditions created by the war, would long since have paralyzed all forms of American industry and deprived American labor of its just reward.

It has not in the least reduced the cost of living, which has constantly advanced from the date of its enactment. The welfare of our people demands its repeal and the substitution of a measure which in peace, as well as in war, will produce ample revenue and give reasonable protection to all forms of American production in mine, forest, field and factory.

We favor the creation of a Tariff Commission, with complete power to gather and compile information for the use of Congress in all matters relating to the tariff.

Business.—The Republican party has long believed in the rigid supervision and strict regulation of the transportation and great corporations of the country. It has put its creed into its deeds, and all really effective laws regulating the railroads and the great industrial corporations are the work of Republican Congresses and Presidents. For this policy of regulation and supervision the Democrats, in a stumbling and piecemeal way, are undertaking to involve the government in business which should be left within the sphere of private enterprise and indirect competition with its own citizens, a policy which is sure to result in waste, great expense to the taxpayer, and in an inferior product.

The Republican party firmly believes that all who violate the laws in regulation of business should be individually punished. But prosecution is very different from persecution, and business success, no matter how honestly attained, is apparently regarded by the Democratic party as in itself a crime. Such doctrines and beliefs choke enterprise and stifle prosperity. The Republican party believes in encouraging American business, as it believes in and will seek to advance all American interests.

Rural Credits.—We favor an effective system of rural credits as opposed to the ineffective law proposed by the present Democratic administration.

Rural Free Delivery.—We favor the extension of the rural free delivery system and condemn the Democratic administration for curtailing and crippling it.

Merchant Marine.—In view of the policies adopted by all the maritime nations to encourage their shipping interests, and in order to enable us to compete with them for the ocean-carrying trade, we favor the payment to ships engaged in the foreign trade of liberal compensation for services actually rendered in carrying the mails, and such further legislation as will build up an adequate American merchant marine and give us ships which may be requisitioned by the government in time of national emergency.

We are utterly opposed to the government ownership of vessels, as proposed by the Democratic party, because government owned ships, while effectively preventing the development of the American merchant marine by private capital, will be entirely unable to provide for the vast volume of American freights, and will leave us more helpless than ever in the hard grip of foreign syndicates.

Railroads.—Interstate and intrastate transportation has become so interwoven that the attempt to apply two, and often several sets of laws to its regulation has produced conflicts of authority, embarrassment in operation, and inconvenience and expense to the public.

The entire transportation system of the country has become essentially national. We, therefore, favor such action by legislation, or if necessary, through an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, as will result in placing it under exclusive Federal control.

Economy and a National Budget.—The increasing cost of the National government, and the need for the greatest economy of its resources, in order to meet the growing demands of the people for government service, call for the severest condemnation of the wasteful appropriations of this Democratic administration, of its shameless raids on the treasury, and of its opposition to and rejection of President Taft's oft-repeated proposals and earnest efforts to secure economy and efficiency through the establishment of a simple, business like budget system, to which we pledge our support, and which we hold to be necessary to effect a needed reform in the administration of national finances.

Conservation.—We believe in a careful husbandry of all the natural resources of the nation—a husbandry which means development without waste, use without abuse.

Civil Service Reform.—The civil service law has always been sustained by the Republican party, and we renew our repeated declaration that it shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced and extended wherever practicable. The Democratic party has created since March 4, 1913, 30,000 offices outside of the civil service law, at an annual cost of $44,000,000 to the taxpayers of the country.

We condemn the gross abuse and misuse of the law by the present Democratic administration and pledge ourselves to a reorganization along lines of efficiency and economy.

Territorial Officials.—Reaffirming the attitude long maintained by the Republican party, we hold that officials appointed to administer the government of any territory should be bona fide residents of the territory in which their duties are to be performed.

Labor Laws.—We pledge the Republican party to the faithful enforcement of all federal laws passed for the protection of labor. We favor vocational education, the enactment and rigid enforcement of a federal child labor law, the enactment of a generous and comprehensive workmen's compensation law, within the commerce power of Congress, and an accident compensation law covering all government employes. We favor the collection and collation under the direction of the Department of Labor of complete data relating to industrial hazards for the information of Congress, to the end that such legislation may be adopted as may be calculated to secure the safety, conservation and protection of labor from the dangers incident to industry and transportation.

Suffrage.—The Republican party, reaffirming its faith in government of the people, by the people, for the people, as a measure of justice to one-half of the adult people of this country, favors the extension of the suffrage to women, but recognizing the right of each state to settle this question for itself.

Such are our principles, such are our purposes and policies. We close as we began. The times are dangerous, and the future is fraught with peril. The great issues of the day have been confused by words and phrases. The American spirit which made the country and saved the Union has been forgotten by those charged with the responsibility of power. We appeal to all Americans, whether naturalized or native born, to prove to the world that we are America in thought and in deed, with one loyalty, one hope, one aspiration. We call on all Americans to be true to the spirit of America, to the great traditions of their common country, and, above all things, to keep the faith.

REPUBLICAN SUBNATIONAL CONVENTION, 1916.

The Republican subnational convention for Missouri met at Excelsior Springs, April 6, 1916, and adopted the following resolutions:

REPUBLICAN SUBNATIONAL PLATFORM, 1916.

We, the Republicans of Missouri, in state convention assembled, meeting in a spirit of pride and satisfaction over a distinguished record of public service, beginning with Lincoln and continuing through with Taft, which our party can present to the American people, do affirm our devotion to the principles of the Republican party and emphasize the imperative need of a return to Republican policies in the nation, in the interest of national prosperity, and in the state, in the interest of a faithful and efficient administration.

Demand Return to Protection.—For its weakness, unfaithfulness and wanton disregard of the industrial interests of the people, we condemn the present Democratic administration with its profligency and inefficiency, and we pledge ourselves to the loyal support of the Republican cause under such wise leadership as shall be provided by the national convention and state primaries of the party.

We demand a return to the well-tried and successful policy of protection to American industries and American labor; we condemn the Democratic tariff act as having been a failure as a revenue producer and as a protection to American business and labor and as failing to reduce the cost of living or to increase our foreign commerce, all despite claims of the Democratic party to the contrary.

We favor an attitude of preparedness for adequate national defense; that the army and navy be made ample for this purpose, and we condemn the Democratic administration for its failure to enact necessary legislation to that end.

We further condemn the weak and vacillating policy of the national administration with reference to affairs in Mexico.

Major Administration Humiliating. We denounce the administration of Governor Major and other Democratic state officials as evidencing the most complete and humiliating failure any administration of the state has ever experienced. It has been characterized by official incompetency, extravagance and multiplication of useless offices to be filled by relatives and members of families of state officials, and in raids upon the school fund of the state to meet the increased expenses of the government thus created.

Election laws have been menaced by fraud and violence, police departments have been used to oppress and intimidate voters and the Kansas City election of April 4, 1916, furnishes a case of the most high handed disregard by the police department of that city of the rights and liberty of the citizens of Kansas City who dared to disagree politically with the commissioners of police appointed by Governor Major; and the failure of the election officials of the city of St. Louis to energetically revise the registration lists prior to the 1914 election, after same had been vigorously urged by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and the Honorable John Schmoll, chairman of the Republican committee of the city of St. Louis, illustrates again these election frauds; we denounce merely passive honesty of police and election officials of the city of St. Louis and their inactivity and failure to use energetically honest means to eradicate this evil. The Republican party pledges to the people of Missouri that it will use every effort possible to bring about in this state the return of fair and honest elections.

Hadley's Work a Contrast. In striking contrast with the record of incompetency, extravagance and corruption was the administration of Missouri's last Republican Governor, Hon. Herbert S. Hadley. Beginning with a deficit of over $1,000,000, he left the treasury in better condition than at any time within the last 10 years. Every department of government was honestly, efficiently and conscientiously administered as an effective agency to further advance and promote the welfare and prosperity of the people of Missouri.

Election laws were so enforced that every voter enjoyed the right to cast one ballot and have it counted as cast and excise laws were enforced without fear or favor. The only claim to distinction that the present state administration has is on the passage or laws defeated by Democratic votes when urged by Governor Hadley in his administration.

The National Republican League of the United States was organized in Chickering Hall, New York City, December 15-17, 1887, by delegates from about 350 Republican clubs of the United States, assembled in national convention, pursuant to a call issued by the Republican Club of New York City. It is composed of the Republican clubs of the United States, organized by states and united in a national organization. Its purpose is "organization and education." It aims to enlist recruits for the Republican party, particularly the younger men and the "first voters." National conventions have since been held at Baltimore, 1889; Nashville, 1890; Cincinnati, 1891; Buffalo, 1892; Louisville, 1893; Denver, 1894; Cleveland, 1895; Milwaukee, 1896; Detroit, 1897; Omaha, 1898 (biennial sessions afterward); St. Paul, 1900; Chicago, 1902; Indianapolis, 1904; Philadelphia, 1906; Cincinnati, 1908; New York, 1910; Chicago, 1912. At the close of the campaign of 1908, the league, including the Taft campaign clubs, comprised approximately 4,000 clubs, with a membership of 1,500,000.

STATE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

(Adopted August 23, 1916.)

The Republican party of Missouri, speaking through a convention of its representatives chosen as the law directs, makes the following declaration of its principles.

Endorsement of National Platform and Candidates.—We reaffirm the Republican national platform in every particular, as adopted at the Chicago convention, and pledge our loyal support to secure the election of the Honorable Charles Evans Hughes and the Honorable Charles Warren Fairbanks, our candidates for President and Vice-President, respectively.

Loyal American Citizenship.—We stand for an American citizenship that shall be unconditionally loyal to those principles of individual liberty and representative government upon which our fathers founded this great Republic, and which guarantee to every citizen the protection of his life, his liberty, and the enjoyment of the fruits of his legitimate industry, at home and abroad.

Protection of American Rights.—We believe in the protection of American labor, in the guaranty of the full rights and privileges of American citizenship to every citizen, and the guaranty of equal opportunity to all, and the equality of all men before the law.

Protection of Citizens at Home and Abroad.—We believe in the faithful fulfillment of our national obligations and in maintaining a fixed policy of good faith and justice to all nations, while demanding and securing, from other nations, the same respect for our rights and the same protection to our citizens, dwelling in their territory, that our laws secure to their citizens within our borders; and we insist upon the observance, by all nations with whom we have intercourse, of the fundamental, just and recognized principles of international law.

Peaceful Settlement of International Disputes.—We believe in international peace and friendship, and we would indorse any practical plan to prevent the resort to war for the settlement of disputes between nations.

National Preparedness.—We believe in adequate and timely national preparedness—economic, industrial, financial, military and naval—as the surest protection against war and as the only salvation of our country in case of war.

Protective Tariff.—We favor a tariff law, framed on Republican principles, so that it shall adequately protect American labor and prevent the destruction of American industries, which is sure to follow the termination of the present war in Europe if the Underwood tariff law, enacted by the Democratic party, shall remain in force. That law should be repealed as part of a rational program of national preparedness.

The notorious failure of this law, even as a revenue measure, has compelled the Democratic party to resort to the odious stamp act, denominated a "war tax" in time of peace.

A Firm and Dignified Foreign Policy.—We denounce the vacillating and humiliating policy that has been pursued by the present national Democratic administration in its intercourse with foreign nations, a policy which has everywhere jeopardized and surrendered American rights, destroyed American prestige, and subjected our country to hatred and contempt, and we particularly denounce the unjust and hypocritical policy of the present Democratic administration in its dealings with Mexico.

Protection of American Citizens in Mexico.—When the present Democratic President came into power three years ago, he immediately began a policy of intervention and intermeddling in the internal affairs of the Mexican republic, coupled with a contemptuous disregard and abandonment of the rights and interests of American citizens domiciled in Mexico or engaged in commerce and industry therein, an intervention which helped to destroy every vestige of responsible government there and reduced that country to anarchy and ruin, resulting in the loss of hundreds of American lives and the destruction of millions of dollars of American property. The despairing appeals of our citizens to their own government against open and deliberate insult, robbery, oppression, outrage and murder fell upon deaf ears or were rejected as unworthy of consideration by an administration whose professions of devotion to the service of humanity did not include or recognize its plain constitutional duties or obligations to its own citizens.

The State Government Under the Domination of an Incompetent Democratic Machine.—We point with pride to the signally able and efficient management of the affairs of this state which distinguished the administration of the Honorable Herbert S. Hadley as forming a brilliant chapter in the political history of Missouri.

We declare that our state government is now in the hands of a selfish political machine who care nothing for the wishes or opinions of the people of this state, or of the rank and file of the party to which they belong, and who serve nobody but themselves. They have devoted their whole thought and effort for years to perpetuating their hold upon power and to creating new offices and commissions with fat salaries for their families and retainers, payable out of the state treasury or supported by official fees imposed upon honest industry and business, or wrung from the general public, while at the same time the legitimate charges of government and of public education and state warships are not met, and bankruptcy threatens the financial administration of the fifth state in the Union in population and wealth of natural resources. These conditions have become intolerable. The present Democratic administration is thoroughly discredited and a change is imperatively demanded; nor does the ticket of the Democratic party, recently nominated, offer any promise of relief to the voters of the state.

The Only Relief Offered Is Through the Republican Party.—The Republican party has nominated a ticket which commands the support of all citizens interested in good government and it pledges all these candidates to an honest, efficient and wise administration of the affairs of this state that will protect and promote honest industry and encourage the development of the natural resources of the state, without imposing unequal burdens upon any class of citizens, while at the same time rigidly preventing monopoly and special privilege and insuring equal opportunity to all who are engaged in legitimate occupations, an administration that will restore the State of Missouri to the position of influence and leadership in this great nation to which by wealth and worth of citizenship it is entitled.

The Appalling Record of Democratic Extravagance.—Four years ago the Missouri Republican state platform declared:

"This state administration has been so economically conducted as to convert a deficit of more than a million dollars at the beginning of the administration into a surplus now in the state treasury."

The Democratic state platform of 1912 admitted this surplus and declared:

"The surplus now in the treasury and the splendid financial condition of the state of Missouri are due to the wise and efficient management of Democratic officers, and are the result of laws enacted by Democratic Legislatures."

With the Democratic administration in power, the financial condition of the state is now pitiable. Its plight is not due to loss of revenue. The receipts from general and special taxation surpass all records. The state institutions are crippled. In spite of the secrecy as to financial conditions, anomalous in a free government, it is known that many of the state institutions scantily subsist on borrowed money or on funds doled out by the Governor, acting under a belated and unconstitutional "economy order" of his own devising. The last General Assembly over-appropriated the estimated revenue five million five hundred thousand dollars. The Governor approved all but three million of this. On January 26, 1916, after the first half of the biennium had elapsed, he issued his "economy order," seeking to do two years' retrenching in one. A month prior to this "economy order" the Supreme Court of the state ordered the return of $334,189.31, which had, on July 3, 1915, been wrongfully diverted from the public school fund to the general revenue fund under a new and fanciful interpretation of the language of an appropriation act set forth in a purported opinion by the Attorney-General, which he repudiated before the test suit was called for trial. The present Democratic administration added $3,790,734.94 to the cost of government in its first two years, over the preceding two years of the Hadley administration. The appropriations for salaries alone for 1915 and 1916 exceed those for 1911 and 1912 by $452,262.00. The last two General Assemblies made unnecessary increases of state expenditures. Such extravagance and incompetency are responsible for the humiliating condition of our state finances.

Inefficiency.—We condemn the present administration for the iniquitous conduct of the state institutions. Our charitable and penal institutions, and the police forces in some of our cities, have been prostituted to the political fortunes of the Democratic machine. Wanton waste, extravagance, nepotism and inefficiency have been the rule throughout the state. We pledge our candidates to the reform of such conditions, to the establishment of a general board of control of our eleemosynary institutions, to the adoption of the merit system in the public service of the state, and to the establishment of economy and efficiency in the state government, so that it shall be administered in the interests of the whole people, rather than any political party.

Financial Juggling.—We deplore the inefficient management and disgraceful juggling of the public funds, as has been the custom of Democratic administrations, both past and present; the diverting and shifting of revenue from one fund to another for the purposes of deluding the taxpayers as to the true conditions of the finances of the state, and to the end that this evil may be corrected, we advocate the enactment of such laws as will give greater publicity to the true and actual financial conditions of our state.

Budget System.—We declare in favor of the adoption of the budget system under which anticipated revenue may be computed, the necessary amount required for all state expenditures ascertained, and appropriations kept within the limits of available revenue; but we also declare that the absence of a budget system does not excuse the Democratic party for the present deplorable condition of the state's finances, resulting from Democratic mismanagement.

Redistricting.—We favor an honest and fair redistricting of the state into congressional, senatorial, legislative and judicial districts, in accordance with the plain mandates of the state and federal laws, to the end that representative government may no longer be outraged in Missouri, and we denounce the unfair and un-American division into which, for partisan purposes, the Democratic party has divided this state.

Workmen's Compensation.—We pledge ourselves to the immediate enactment of a just and practicable workmen's compensation law. Thirty-two states of the Union have enacted such laws within the past six years, while Missouri, under Democratic rule and in violation of platform pledges, has adhered to obsolete and unfair laws. We also favor the enactment of laws designed to prevent industrial accidents.

Good Roads.—We congratulate the people on the progress made in highway improvement in some sections of the state, through the aid of voluntary organizations and by means of local efforts, and we call attention to the fact that adequate and effectual laws for state aid and encouragement of highway construction and maintenance have not been provided by the Democratic party. We favor a general revision of our road laws, so that there may be devised a simple and complete system of road and bridge construction and maintenance, which will be adapted to the requirements and means of the various counties of the state.

We pledge ourselves to the enactment of laws necessary to secure the benefit of aid to road building by the federal government, and to supplement these by laws providing for proper state aid, to the end that roads of all classes throughout the state be properly improved and maintained. We recognize the necessity of developing the great arteries of travel throughout the state, and we also realize the great importance of improving, to a proper standard, market roads and community thoroughfares of all kinds.

River Improvement.—Our Senator and Congressmen will advance the development by the federal government of our rivers for all transportation purposes.

Geological Survey.—We favor such a geological survey as will announce to the world the location and extent of Missouri's vast resources.

Local Improvements.—We favor the enactment of amendments to the present law whereby the cost of public improvements in our large cities may be brought within the bounds of reason and the cost of similar work in other states. We believe a modification of the plan whereby certain cities have obtained their park systems, if applied to all street improvement proceedings, would enable such work to be done at a saving of a large per cent of the present cost of such work.

Pure Seed.—We favor the speedy enactment of a pure seed law to protect our farmers against impure and infertile seed.

Reformation of Court Procedure.—We believe that the statutes governing court procedure in this state, in both civil and criminal cases, should be thoroughly revised and amended, to the end that the administration of justice be made simpler, more expeditious and less expensive, and we commend the efforts of the Missouri Bar Association now being made in this behalf.

Home Rule.—We favor home rule for the large cities of Missouri, both because it is a fundamental American right and because the present system may be and has been used for factional and partisan purposes to thwart the will of the voters elsewhere in the state. We condemn the hypocrisy of the Democrats in plotting to destroy home rule after unexpected developments showed that it was not to their partisan advantage. We believe that the factional scandals that are disgracing Missouri are largely due to gubernatorial control of the police and excise matters of the large cities.

Rural Credits.—We favor a fair, practicable and effective system of rural credits as opposed to the crude, ineffective and unwise scheme known as the Gardner land bank plan.

Pensions for Blind.—We favor a constitutional amendment for the pensioning of the needy blind.

Penitentiary.—We are opposed to the partisan political and inefficient management of the State Penitentiary. We stand for the humane treatment of convicts, the separation of hardened criminals from first offenders, the segregation of those afflicted with communicable diseases, the establishment of a hospital for the criminal insane, the employment of the able bodied, as far as possible, in the open air, and not in competition with free labor, the actual abolition of the contract system in the penitentiary, and the operation of the penitentiary in a modern, honest, businesslike manner.

We favor the prompt establishment of an intermediate reformatory for first offenders, and condemn the Democratic state officials for completely ignoring the unanimous mandate of the last General Assembly providing for such an institution by the appropriation of one hundred and thirty-five thousand dollars, which sum the state officials used for other purposes.

Election Laws.—The primary and general election laws of this state should be thoroughly revised, as the laws provided by the Democratic party and now in force, both for the nomination of candidates for office of the persons nominated, are unsatisfactory.

Police Intimidation of Voters.—We denounce the practice of the Democratic state machine in employing the police forces of some of the large cities of the state to corrupt and control the elections and subvert the liberties of the citizens, by colonizing the criminal classes of said cities for political purposes and by arresting, terrorizing and intimidating honest voters on election day. This practice undermines the very foundation of free government and should receive overwhelming condemnation at the polls by all good citizens of this state.

We point with pride to the faithful and zealous manner in which the Republican party has, on all occasions, protected, guarded and upheld the right of franchise of every qualified voter of this state, and guaranteed to every voter the right to cast his ballot and to have that ballot counted as cast. We promise the voters of the State of Missouri that the Republican party, if put in power, will in the future maintain this high degree of fairness and efficiency.

Health Boards.—The party stands for adequate financial support of health boards and health officers of the state, counties and cities. It stands for the maintenance of county tuberculosis hospitals and public tuberculosis nurse service, financially aided by the state and nation.

Dairy Laws.—We favor the revision of the dairy laws of the state so that they will meet the present needs of modern dairying.

New Constitution.—We favor the submission by the next General Assembly to the voters of Missouri of the question of a new Constitution.

We declare in this connection that a new Constitution should be framed as a non-partisan instrument, and therefore we recommend that the submission be made in a form to provide for an equitable and just representation of all political parties in framing said instrument.

Conclusion.—Upon the foregoing declaration of principles we confidently appeal to the voters of this state.

SOCIALIST PARTY.

SOCIALIST PARTY NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

Adolph Germer, executive secretary, 803 West Madison street, Chicago, Ill. This organization, known nationally as the Socialist party, is officially known as the Public Ownership party in Minnesota, to conform to the election laws in that state. The national executive committee is composed of five members, elected by the referendum of the membership. The executive secretary is elected in like manner. The term of office is two years. The following are the executive committee: Victor L. Berger, Milwaukee, Wis.; Morris Hillquit, New York, N. Y.; Anna A. Maley, New York, N. Y.; John Spargo, Old Bennington, Vt.; John M. Work, Chicago, Ill.

The national committee is composed of representatives from each organized state or territory, of which there are 64. Representation is as follows: The national committee consists of the state secretaries of all organized states and territories, or such other persons as the members of the party in the state elect by referendum vote, with one additional member from each state or territory for every three thousand members in good standing in such state or territory. For the purpose of determining the representation to which each state or territory may be entitled, the national secretary computes the beginning of each calendar year, the average dues paying membership of such state or territory for the preceding year. Three years' consecutive membership in the party is necessary to qualify for membership in the national committee.

SOCIALIST PARTY PRINCIPLES.

Working Programme. As general measures calculated to strengthen the working class in its fight for the realization of its ultimate aim, the co-operative commonwealth, and to increase its power of resistance against capitalist oppression, we advocate and pledge ourselves and our elected officers to the following programme:

Political Demands.—1. Unrestricted and equal suffrage for men and women.

2. The immediate adoption of the so-called "Susan B. Anthony amendment" to the Constitution of the United States granting the suffrage to women on equal terms with men.

3. The adoption of the initiative, referendum and recall and of proportional representation, nationally as well as locally.

4. The abolition of the Senate and of the veto power of the President.

5. The election of the President and the Vice-President by direct vote of the people.

6. The abolition of the present restriction upon the amendment of the Constitution so that that instrument may be made amendable by a majority of the voters in the country.

7. The calling of a convention for the revision of the Constitution of the United States.

8. The abolition of the power usurped by the Supreme Court of the United States to pass upon the constitutionality of legislation enacted by Congress. National laws to be repealed only by act of Congress or by a referendum vote of the whole people.

9. The immediate curbing of the power of the courts to issue injunctions.

10. The election of all judges of the United States courts for short terms.

11. The free administration of the law.

12. The granting of the right of suffrage in the District of Columbia with representation in Congress and a democratic form of municipal government for purely local affairs.

13. The extension of democratic government to all United States territory.

14. The freedom of press, speech and assemblage.

15. The increase of the rates of the present income tax and corporation tax and the extension of inheritance taxes, graduated in proportion to the value of the estate and to nearness of kin—the proceeds of these taxes to be employed in the socialization of industry.

16. The enactment of further measures for general education and particularly for vocational education in useful pursuits. The Bureau of Education to be made a department.

17. The enactment of further measures for the conservation of health and the creation of an independent department of health.

18. The abolition of the monopoly ownership of patents and the substitution of collective ownership, with direct rewards to inventors by premiums or royalties.

Collective Ownership.—1. The collective ownership and democratic management of railroads, telegraphs and telephones, express service, steamboat lines and all other social means of transportation and communication and of all large-scale industries.

2. The immediate acquirement by the municipalities, the states or the Federal Government of all grain elevators, stockyards, storage warehouses and other distributing agencies, in order to relieve the farmer from the extortionate charges of the middlemen and to reduce the present high cost of living.

3. The extension of the public domain to include mines, quarries, oil wells, forests, and water power.

4. The further conservation and development of natural resources for the use and benefit of all the people: (a) By scientific forestation and timber protection. (b) By the reclamation of arid and swamp tracts. (c) By the storage of flood waters and the utilization of water power. (d) By the stoppage of the present extravagant waste of the soil and the products of mines and oil wells. (e) By the development of highway and waterway systems.

5. The collective ownership of land wherever practicable, and in cases where such ownership is impracticable, the appropriation by taxation of the annual rental value of all land held for speculation or exploitation.

6. All currency shall be issued by the Government of the United States and shall be legal tender for the payment of taxes and impost duties and for the discharge of public and private debts. The government shall lend money on bonds to counties and municipalities at a nominal rate of interest for the purpose of taking over or establishing public utilities and for building or maintaining public roads and highways, and public schools—up to 25 per cent of the assessed valuation of such counties or municipalities. Said bonds are to be repaid in twenty equal and annual installments, and the currency issued for that purpose by the government is to be cancelled and destroyed seriatim as the debt is repaid. All banks and banking institutions shall be owned by the Government of the United States or by the states.

7. Government relief of the unemployed by the extension of all useful public works. All persons employed on such work to be engaged directly by the government under a workday of not more than eight hours and at not less than the prevailing union wages. The government also to establish employment bureaus; to lend money to states and municipalities without interest for the purpose of carrying on public works, to contribute money to unemployment funds of labor unions and other organizations of workers, and to take such other measures within its power as will lessen the widespread misery of the workers caused by the misrule of the capitalist class.

Industrial Demands.—The conservation of human resources, particularly of the lives and well-being of the workers and their families:

1. By shortening the workday in keeping with the increased productiveness of machinery.

2. By securing the freedom of political and economic organization and activities.

3. By securing to every worker a rest period of not less than a day and a half in each week.

4. By securing a more effective inspection of workshops, factories and mines.

5. By forbidding the employment of children under eighteen years of age.

6. By forbidding the interstate transportation of the products of child labor and of all uninspected factories and mines.
7. By establishing minimum wage scales.
8. By abolishing official charity and substituting a non-contributory system of old age pensions, a general system of insurance by the state of all its members against unemployment and invalidism, and a system of compulsory insurance by employers of their workers, without cost to the latter, against industrial diseases, accidents and death.
9. By establishing mothers' pensions.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

In the United States women possess suffrage upon equal terms with men at all elections in Wyoming, established in 1869; in Colorado, in 1893; in Utah, in 1896; in Idaho, in 1896; in Washington, in 1910; in California, in 1911; in Arizona, Kansas and Oregon, in 1912, and in Nevada and Montana, in 1914. During 1913 the Territorial Legislature of Alaska granted full suffrage to women. Under the state law of 1913 in Illinois it was construed that women could vote for presidential electors, members of the State Board of Equalization, Clerk of the Appellate Court, county collector, county surveyor, members of board of assessors, members of board of review, sanitary district trustees and for all the officers of cities, villages and towns (except police magistrates), municipal judges and upon all questions or propositions submitted for approval at elections. The Supreme Court of Illinois ruled, February, 1916, that women cannot vote for national delegates and alternates. The court also held that women cannot vote for state central committeemen and precinct committeemen.

Women have school suffrage in Connecticut, Delaware, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Vermont, Wisconsin and Alaska. In Iowa women may vote at all school or municipal elections upon any proposition to vote bonds or increase the tax levies.

Abroad, women have full parliamentary suffrage in Australia, New Zealand, the Isle of Man, Finland, Norway, Denmark, Iceland, Yucatan and the four Canadian provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. They have municipal suffrage on the same terms as men throughout the British Isles and in Sweden, and a certain measure of municipal franchise rights in five of the provinces of Canada, and in the cities of Belize in British Honduras, Rangoon in Burmah, and Baroda and Bombay in British India. In certain districts of Austria, Germany, Hungary and Russia women who own property are allowed to cast their votes on various communal matters either in their own persons or through proxies. In Belgium, Bulgaria, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Roumania and Switzerland women have no political rights whatever, but are permitted to vote for certain administrative boards—educational, philanthropic, correctional or industrial.

The Cook county, Illinois, 1916 presidential vote by men and women was: Wilson, 233,814 men and 145,622 women. Hughes, 269,962 men and 165,733 women. Benson, 23,327 men and 9,144 women. Hanly, 985 men and 1,324 women. Reimer, 690 men and 360 women. In the city of Chicago, for the election Nov. 7, 1916, there were 504,674 men and 303,801 women registered. Voted: Men, 487,210, or 96.5%; women, 289,444, or 95.2%.

Woman Suffrage Was Acted Upon In 1916.

GEORGIA. Amendment to State Constitution—House: Nays 91, yeas 21. Senate hearing set "for August 17"—the day after statutory adjournment of the Legislature.

KENTUCKY. Amendment—House: Yeas 46, nays 45 (lacked two-third vote). Senate: Yeas 26, nays 8.

LOUISIANA. Amendment—House: Yeas 60, nays 49 (lacked two-third vote).

MARYLAND. Amendment—House: Yeas 26, nays 64. Senate: Yeas 17, nays 7.

NEW JERSEY. Presidential suffrage bill—Senate referred to Committee on Judiciary and unfavorably reported.

NEW YORK. Amendment—House: Yeas 109, nays 30. Senate: Yeas 33, nays 10. Presidential and municipal suffrage: House referred to Committee on Judiciary. Senate referred to Committee on Judiciary.

OKLAHOMA. Amendment—Senate adverse report: House: Yeas 62, nays 15.

RHODE ISLAND. Presidential suffrage: Died in committee.

SOUTH CAROLINA. Amendment—House: Yeas 51, nays 61.

VIRGINIA. Amendment—House: Yeas 40, nays 52.

To these may be added the bill (Poindexter bill) introduced into Congress to restore the franchise to citizens of the District of Columbia, which includes women in its terms. This bill was reported favorably by the district committee.

The proposed United States constitutional amendment early in December, 1916, was on the Senate calendar awaiting action and in the Judiciary Committee of the House.

In the last half of 1916 the women of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba were given the suffrage by the Provincial Legislatures and in British Columbia by referendum vote. In February a woman suffrage resolution was defeated in the House of Commons, Canada. The measure was introduced by William Pugsley and was opposed by the government, the prime minister taking the ground that it would open up the question of a new system of federal franchise.

On June 5 woman suffrage was defeated at a special election in Iowa and on November 7 at the general election in South Dakota and in West Virginia.

INSPECTION AND CLASSIFICATION OF HIGH SCHOOLS OF MISSOURI.

(By the State Superintendent of Public Schools, Uel W. Lamkin.)

New section. Classification of high schools—accredit work in other state schools.—The State Superintendent of Public Schools shall have authority to classify the public high schools of the state into first, second and third class, and shall prescribe minimum courses of study for each class: Provided, that no school shall be classed as a high school of the first class which does not maintain a four years' course of standard work in English, mathematics, science and history for a term of, at least, nine months in the year, and which does not employ the entire time of, at least, three approved teachers in high school work; that no school shall be classed as a high school of the second class which does not maintain a three years' course of standard work in English, mathematics, science and history for a term of, at least, nine months in the year, and which does not employ the entire time of, at least, two approved teachers in high school work; that no school shall be classed as a high school of the third class which does not maintain a two years' course of standard work in English, mathematics, science and history for a term of, at least, eight months in the year, and which does not employ the entire time of, at least, one approved teacher in high school work. All work completed in an accredited high school shall be given full credit in requirements for entrance to, and classification in, any educational institution supported in whole or in part by state appropriations. (Session Acts, 1903.)

New section. High school inspection by State Superintendent.—For the purpose of classifying high schools and having their work accredited by higher educational institutions, the State Superintendent of Public Schools shall, in person or by deputy, inspect and examine any high school making application for classification, and he shall prescribe rules and regulations governing such inspections and examinations and keep complete record of all inspections, examinations and recommendations made. He shall from time to time publish lists of classfied high schools: Provided, he may drop any school in its classification if, on reinspection or re-examination, he finds that such school does not maintain the required standard of excellence. (Session Acts, 1903.)

The increase in the number of high schools in the state is shown in the summary that follows. The irregularity of the change is striking. The causes of the gain of 29 for 1909 and the contrasting loss of 6 for 1910 are interesting incentives for conjecture or guesswork. The marked increase of 56 in the year 1913 might without altering the law of probability be attributed to the Wilson high school aid law and the Buford consolidation law. The next especially noticeable increase of 77 during the closing year, 1916, must, however, fall back upon the general interest in an effort to obtain high school instruction for each and every Missouri boy and girl. A high school for every community, rural and urban alike, is the unquestionable result of the present educational trend. There are 119 unclassified high schools recorded below; in addition to which there are many schools offering high school work not reported. As the 119 are visited, encouraged and classified, the now unknown will fill up the ranks, thus the gradual increase will continue. These schools, not visited because of lack of inspectors' time, could be directed into the list of classified schools.

| Total school funds of the state | $15,162,665.77 |

The permanent funds are five in number: State common school fund, seminary fund, county fund, township fund, special fund.

On admitting Missouri into the Union Congress donated twelve bodies of saline lands of six sections each. In 1837 the General Assembly provided that the proceeds of the sales of this land, augmented by the profits on the United States' deposits in Missouri banks, should constitute a permanent school fund. This was increased in 1865 by $132,000 from the sale of the state tobacco warehouse. This fund now amounts to $3,159,281.14. The income from it, with one-third of the ordinary revenue, is apportioned annually by the State Superintendent to the counties and to the city of St. Louis, according to the number of children of school age.

By acts of 1818 and 1820 Congress donated seventy-two sections of public land for establishment and support of a "seminary of learning." The fund from the sale of this land amounts to $1,259,988.20. The income from it is used for the support of the University.

County funds are from fines, forfeitures, sale of estrays and swamp lands. These funds amount to $5,781,005.82. They are loaned by the county courts on real estate and personal security, and the interest is apportioned annually by the county clerks.

Township funds are the proceeds of sale of the sixteenth section in each congressional township. These funds amount to $2,414,515.81. The income is apportioned among the districts of the township.

Special permanent funds are from gifts, devises, etc. They amount to $2,531,023.58. The income goes to the districts having such special fund.

The first apportionment was made in January, 1842, on the ratio of sixty cents to each child above the age of six and under eighteen years in the district in which an organized school was taught. The second, third and fourth apportionments were also made on the enumeration of children between the ages of six and eighteen years. The fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth were made on children between the ages of six and twenty years. The ninth to the twenty-first, inclusive, were made on children between the ages of five and twenty years. The twenty-second, twenty-third and twenty-fourth were apportioned on children between the ages of five and twenty-one years. From 1871 to the present time the legal school age has been from six to twenty years.

No apportionments were made in 1861, 1862, 1863, 1865 and 1867.

The apportionments from the revenue fund were first made in 1854, being one-fourth of the state revenue collected from November, 1853. This was continued regularly, except that no apportionment was made for the seven years from 1861 to 1868. Since 1887 one-third of the ordinary state revenue has been appropriated to the public schools.

In 1842 the number of children taught was 6,192; the number reported between the ages of six and eighteen, 10,839; the number of counties having organized schools, 28; whole number of counties in the state, 77.

From 1892 to 1900 the amount apportioned per child of school age was less than $1.00. In 1900 it was $1.00, and has steadily increased each year, except one, till 1910, when it was $1.79. In 1909 it was one cent less than in 1908, but the total was greater on account of the increase in the number enumerated. For the three years, 1906, 1907 and 1908, the enumeration shows a steady decrease. In 1909 an increase of 20,433 over the enumeration of the preceding year is shown. This is on account of a new enumeration of St. Louis being taken, which is done only once in every five years. The enumeration of 1910 is 1,870 less than in 1909. This loss is known to be in the state outside the city of St. Louis, for the reason that the St. Louis enumeration of 1909 will stand until 1914.

The decrease in the enumeration in 1911 and 1912 was due partly to the elimination of padded lists in some of the larger cties and partly to an actual decrease in the number of children in the rural districts. The number of school children in Missouri in 1896 was 963,479, and in 1915 was 922,831. Thus it is seen that the number of pupils of school age in the state is no greater now than nineteen years ago. In these nineteen years the state school fund has more than doubled, increasing from $924,940.55 in 1896 to $1,930,005.02 in 1914, or an amount almost equal to $2.00 per child enumerated.

In the last six years the state has completey changed its method of apportioning the public school funds, since a large public school fund cannot be equitably apportioned on a census basis. The state in its apportionment of its public school funds now recognizes the three fundamental purposes of a public school fund, viz.:

1. To equalize educational opportunities.
2. To equalize educational burdens.
3. To stimulate local effort.

About one-half of the fund is now apportioned on the number of teachers employed, and the other half partly on the aggregate attendance and partly as special aid to districts that do not have sufficient funds to support a good school after they have levied the maximum constitutional limit for school purposes.

The present method of apportionment stimulates schools to strive for good attendance, good school work in every way, and encourages good levies for school purposes.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES IN MISSOURI.

(Compiled by Missouri Library Commission.)

About 100 different libraries, representing Missouri colleges and schools as well as public libraries, now make reports to the State Library Commission. Only 18 libraries were founded before 1876 and only one of the eighteen was a public library in any sense. The oldest library in the state is that of the St. Louis University, founded in 1831. The St. Louis Mercantile Library was the first library for the people (1846). Lewis Memorial Library at Glasgow began the list of public libraries in 1867.

State traveling libraries are sent to the smaller towns and rural communities of the state on request. During 1915-16, 1,001 traveling libraries were loaned to Missouri people. Each library consists of a set of 50 readable books of fiction, biography, history, travel, literature and science, some of which are for children and young people. They are well packed in a strong wooden box, secured by a padlock, and forwarded by freight.

The traveling libraries are loaned free of cost under the following agreement:

"We, the undersigned, apply to the Missouri Library Commission for a loan of books. We agree to pay transportation charges on the books when received and to prepay charges when we return the books. We further agree to keep the books carefully, loan them freely to anyone interested, and to make them accessible to borrowers at regular intervals of not less than three hours a week."

The above agreement signed by five permanent residents of any community constitutes an order for a loan of books. Each set may be kept from three to six months, and then exchanged for another set. For information and agreement card address the Missouri Library Commission, Jefferson City, Missouri.

NOTES ON THE LAW REGULATING THE PRACTICE OF ACCOUNTANCY IN MISSOURI.

Accountancy is a profession, the members of which, by virtue of their general education and professional training, offer to the community their services in all matters having to do with the recording, verification and presentation of facts involving the acquisition, production, conservation and transfer of values.

The act regulating the practice of accountancy in the State of Missouri became a law August 15, 1909. This law created the State Board of Accountancy, with power to make such rules and regulations as they deemed proper. The following is a summary of the law and the regulations of the board:

Applicant, in order to take the examination set by the board, must be:

(a) A citizen of the United States or have duly declared his intention of becoming such.
(b) Over 25 years of age.
(c) Of good moral character.
(d) A graduate of a high school with a four years' course or have equivalent education, or pass the examination set by the board.
(e) Have at least three years' practical accounting experience.

All applications must be filed with the board ten days prior to the date fixed for the examinations and be accompanied by a fee of $25.00. Applicants failing to pass are entitled to take a second examination within one year without being required to pay a second fee.

An additional fee of $10.00 is required for issuance of a certificate.

The law is very strict on the use of the title "Certified Public Accountants" or the initials "C. P. A.," and provides for a heavy penalty on conviction. The law also provides for the punishment of any accountant who falsifies a report.

In case an applicant is unable to produce the documentary evidence of qualification required by law, the board will arrange for him to take the final examination in some accredited high school or the entrance examination to a university or college, or the board will set the examinations.

Applicants are presumed to have a general knowledge of the history of accountancy and of the subject of economics and its relation to accountancy. In case an applicant is in doubt as to his ability to pass the C. P. A. examination and is desirous of making a test of his fitness, the board will arrange for a preliminary examination. In the event that the board recommends that the applicant prepare further before taking the final examination and the applicant does not take the next final examination, the fee will be returned.

Two examinations are held annually. There are five sessions of three hours each.

(1) Theory of accounts, 3 hours. (2-3) Practical accounting, 6 hours. (4) Auditing, 3 hours. (5) Commercial law, 3 hours.

Academic or Scholastic Education.

Under the law and the rules of the board, a candidate cannot be permitted to take the examination unless he has:

1. Matriculated at a reputable university, or
2. Is a graduate of an accredited high school with a four years' course, or similar school of equal grade and repute.

3. An equivalent academic education, or has
4. Passed an examination to be set by the board or its duly authorized examiners.

The standard of the examination set by the board will be such as to satisfy the board that the applicant has an education in all respects equivalent to that required by an accredited high school with a four years' course in all subjects required by such high schools for graduation therefrom, except ancient and foreign languages and the sciences. The applicant will be required to make 80 per cent on the papers set, which will not include ancient and foreign language and the sciences.

No certificates will issue to the Secretary of State registering candidates who have successfully passed the C. P. A. examination unless and until the successful candidate has had three years' practice as a public accountant, either on his own account or as an employe of reputable public accountants. Candidates fulfilling the statutory requirements and the rules of the board may on payment of the fees sit for the C. P. A. examination but, should they pass, the certificate will be withheld until the board is satisfied that the candidate has had the aforesaid three years' public experience and practice.

Examinations.

The purpose of the law (Revised Statutes Mo. 1909, chapter 11), is to regulate the practice of public accounting (Session Acts 1909, p. 710), and the names and addresses of public accountants, only, who have passed in all of the subjects will be certified to the Secretary of State.

Definition of Public Accountant.

A public accountant is one who is skilled and versed in the theory and practice of the various branches of accounting; who has a place for the regular transaction of business as a professional accountant, and who devotes his time during the usual business hours of the day to the rendering of services as an accountant to the public generally, or is employed as an accountant by public accountants.

An accountant who does not have a place for the regular transaction of business during the usual business hours of the day as a professional accountant with the public generally, who renders accounting services occasionally only, and collateral to or in connection with some other employment or vocation, or who limits his accounting service to one or a few persons, firms or corporations not engaged in the practice of public accountancy, is not a public accountant.

No person shall be permitted to take the examination for C. P. A. registration:

1. Who cannot comply with the statutory requirements, sections 1 and 3 (b). Experience in bookkeeping is not experience in practical accounting. The practical accounting experience contemplated by the statute is experience gained as a result of the practice as a public accountant.

2. Who has not an established place for the regular transaction of business as a public accountant, or who is not about to establish such a place (or who is not employed as an accountant by public accountants), inasmuch as the statute does not contemplate licensing anyone as a public accountant, but provides only for state registration of such public accountants as possess the necessary qualifications.

In order to take the examinations, applications must be filed with the secretary at least 30 days prior to the date fixed for the examinations. The necessary forms and all information can be obtained free on application to the secretary of the State Board of Accountancy of Missouri, 1523 Central National Bank building, St. Louis, Mo.

The object of the association is to elevate the character and advance the interests of the profession of journalism and to promote the welfare of newspaper makers in the United States.

Any person connected with the editorial or business department of a newspaper, magazine or periodical, or any professional writer, may become an active member.

The association is the only national organization representing the weeklies and small dailies of the country, and delegates to its conventions, held annually, are elected by the local and state associations. Committees look after national legislation, national advertising, cost and other business matters and one, newly appointed, will take up the matter of a home for aged writers and newspaper people.

The officers are: H. C. Hotaling, president, Mapleton, Minn.; Guy U. Hardy, vice-president, Canon City, Colo.; George Schlosser, secretary, Watertown, South Dakota; J. Byron Cain, treasurer, Belle Plaine, Kansas. Executive committee—Edward Albright, Gallatin, Tenn., G.L. Caswell, Denison, Iowa; A. B. Bragdon, Monroe, Mich.; E. L. Peterson, Dickinson, N. Dak.; Dietrick Lamade, Williamsport, Pa.; H. H. Bliss, Janesville, Wis.

MISSOURI STATE PRESS ASSOCIATION.

The Missouri State Press Association was organized at a meeting held at Temperance hall in St. Louis May 17, 1867, and the Golden Jubilee meeting was held in Kansas City in September, 1916. The membership at the first meeting was twenty-eight and at present it is about 400. Besides its own line of work the Missouri State Press Association has fostered the State Historical Society, which is now preparing to celebrate Missouri's Centennial in 1920. Following are the present officers: J. P. Tucker, Parkville, president; S. W. Davis, Butler, first vice-president; A. T. Hollenbeck, West Plains, second vice-president; John Beal, Mexico, third vice-president; Lewis W. Lampkin, Lees Summit, recording secretary; B. Ray Franklin, Russellville, corresponding secretary; Lewis W. Moore, Hume, treasurer.

SOUTHEAST MISSOURI PRESS ASSOCIATION.

This association was organized at a meeting held at Poplar Bluff in the spring of 1893. A strong organization existed for several years and then lapsed in interest. Meetings were held annually, however, and officers were elected. The presidents during the early years were as follows: E. Hoag, Poplar Bluff Citizen, 1893; J. N. Holmes, Piedmont Banner, 1894; E. P. Caruthers, Kennett Democrat, 1895; John F. Martin, Charleston Enterprise, 1896; Ed A. Wright, New Madrid Record, 1897; James Flynn, Cape Girardeau Gazette, 1898; J. F. Mitchim, DeSoto Press, 1899, 1900; Eli D. Ake, Ironton Register, 1901, 1902, 1903, 1904, 1905; D. B. Hill, Marble Hill Press, 1906, 1907; Albert O. Allen, New Madrid Record, 1909, 1910, 1911.

With interest at low ebb then, a half dozen editors met at Cape Girardeau in the spring of 1912 and issued a call for a revival of the association to its former strength in membership and character of convention. A meeting was held at Dexter June 7, with 20 members present for reorganization. Decision to hold annual meetings Fridays and Saturdays after Thanksgiving day was not changed until 1916 when a rule for meetings Fridays and Saturdays following Easter Sunday was adopted.

Since the reorganization the meetings and officers have been:

1912. Dexter—D. B. Hill, Marble Hill Press, president; Harry Naeter, Cape Girardeau, secretary.

Poplar Bluff—D. B. Hill, president, Harry Naeter, secretary.

1913. Marble Hill—Dean B. Hill, president; Harry Naeter, secretary.

1914. Kennett—C. C. Mitchim, DeSoto Press, president, Harry Naeter, secretary.

1915. Cape Girardeau—Ed P. Crowe, Dexter Statesman, president; Harry Naeter, secretary.

1916. DeSoto—Harry Denman, Farmington News, president; Harry Naeter, secretary.

The Ozark Press Association was organized at Springfield in 1911 with a membership of about fifty. The present officers are: T. H. Watters, Marshfield Mail, president; E. K. Lyles, Houston Herald, vice-president; J. W. Brown, Marionville Free Press, secretary, and Will F. Candler, Mountain Grove Herald, treasurer.

OCCURRENCES DURING PRINTING.

Hugh McIndoe, mayor of Joplin, was "recalled" under the commission form charter at a special election held August 17, 1917.

Charles A. Robinson, who has acted as mayor since the recall of Hugh McIndoe August 17, on September 28 was defeated by C. S. Poole in a special election to name McIndoe's successor, who will serve until the regular mayoralty election in April, 1918. There was little interest displayed in the election, only 2,565 votes being cast out of a total of more than 7,000 eligible. The vote was: Poole, 1,707; Robinson, 858. Poole's majority, 849.

Acting Governor Crossley on August 21, 1917, appointed William H. Dalby of Albany as prosecuting attorney of Gentry county, to succeed F. H. McCaslin, who resigned to accept a commission as captain in the United States Army.

Samuel Rosenfeld, attorney and secretary of the St. Louis Appeal Board, was appointed September 20, 1917, by Governor Gardner as circuit judge, to succeed Rhodes E. Cave, resigned.

April 6, 1917, the date President Wilson signed the war resolution, is formally fixed as the legal date of the beginning of the war with Germany, in an opinion by General Crowder, judge advocate-general of the army. Many army matters, relating to pay, allowances, claims for property lost in war service and the like, must be settled on this ruling.

November 24, 1917, Ben Neal, of Dade county, was elected chairman of the State Democratic Committee, vice James Cowgill, resigned.

A special election was called in Dunklin county December 15, 1917, to elect a successor to J. E. Hardin, sheriff, deceased.

The identity of the Missouri National Guard was lost by the merging of army divisions, made final in November.
